House Refuses To Extend Milk Price Authority

Kills Bill Permitting Regulation by Markets Body
VOTE IS 46 TO 31

Party Lines Shattered
After Bitter Debate Over Measure

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—State price regulation, enacted as an emergency device in 1933 to alleviate depressed conditions in the fluid milk industry and continued uninterrupted for six years, will end this year with the expiration of the present law, according to legislative action last night.

By a decisive 46 to 31 vote, the Wisconsin assembly after extended and bitter wrangling killed a bill which would have re-enacted the milk price control law which allows the state department of agriculture and markets, upon the petition of the urban area producers, to set prices of bottle milk and cream in the city of Appleton, Green Bay and 32 other regulated city markets in Wisconsin.

Party lines were hopelessly dissolved on the milk price law issue, which has been debated endlessly in both houses of the legislature for several months. A senate bill also proposing re-enactment remains to be disposed of, but the size of the vote on the assembly bill convinced proponents of price control that their cause is lost at this session of the legislature.

The stand of the majority opponents to continuation of artificial price levels for the city milk markets was expressed for Democrats, Progressives and Republicans fighting its re-enactment by R. W. Petersen, Republican floor leader, who said:

"For administrations placed in the laws of Wisconsin, what is known as the 'milk control law'.
This law gave to the department of agriculture and markets the authority to set the price of fluid or bottled milk. Only about 5 per cent of all of the milk produced in the state goes into the fluid milk market whereas the other 95 per cent goes into the surplus market.

"The large distributors of fluid milk were anxious to have a high price on their product to the consumer. This meant that the low income group, which group usually has the larger family, were unable to buy as much bottled milk, and the average was thrown into the surplus market, lowering the price to the farmer for 95 per cent of his product."

Petersen termed the milk price fixing statute "very detrimental to the farmer."

At hearings on the question over a period of several months it was apparent that cheesemakers and farmers who sell to cheese factories, condenseries and creameries resented the apparent favoritism of the price law which did not benefit them. Moreover they argued that by retarding consumption through high retail bottle milk prices, the law was furnishing competition in the markets by throwing large quantities of milk normally used in the cities into cheese, butter and condensed milk outlets.

With apparent whimsy, and with protestations of their faithfulness to the farmers' cause, the assembly men before killing the bill enthusiastically adopted an amendment which would guarantee the farmer-producer of the milk sold in the regulated city markets at least 50 per cent of the retail price.

The farmer has a heavy capital investment, works long hours, and gets less for the milk he produces than the wagon driver who delivers it on the routes to the consumers, several assemblymen testified.

It was said that some wagon distributors in Milwaukee get $180 a month.

Reject Amendment

The assembly refused to adopt an amendment by William J. Sweeney, Brown county Democrat, which would have cut the price fixing clauses from the price-fixing bill.
Sweeney said he didn't mind the idea of having the department of agriculture regulate the milk industry for sanitary and other purposes, but he wanted the price situation to adjust itself. Then the next legislature could decide whether artificial price stimulation would help.

Assemblyman Catlin of Appleton, Republican, got the assembly to adopt amendments—before the bill was chloroformed—which would have allowed individual farmers to sell milk on their own farms, at their own prices without regulation, and which would have ex-

Heat Continues; Cooler Weather Is in Prospect

Mercury Climbs to New High Mark of 96 Degrees Yesterday

Temperatures slackened today but residents of Appleton and vicinity continued to swelter under the oppressive heat blanket which set in Sunday and yesterday boosted the mercury to a new high of 96 degrees.

Yesterday's mark, recorded at 3 o'clock at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, surpasses by 2 degrees the high mark of last summer, which was registered on July 5.

While the weatherman has been missing the boat the last few days, those suffering from the intense heat are hoping that his forecast of fair weather with cooler temperatures tonight and Friday will pan out.

Most of the west, the plains states and the Great Lakes region was in the grip of the heat wave while scattered showers refreshed a few areas in the eastern drought belt.
Temperatures were being measured in three figures in many localities and the five-day hot spell had lifted temperatures to 10 and 12 year highs.

Construction Suspended Local construction work was being shut down, many business establishments dismissed employees earlier than usual and some industries were working with skeleton crews as the smothering weather continued unabated.

Mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building had risen to 88 degrees early this afternoon.

Drawn faces and bloodshot eyes were a familiar sight this morning and gave mute evidence of the sleepless night experienced by many. The lowest temperature recorded during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning was 71 degrees at 4 o'clock this morning.

Pumpage at the municipal water works was far above normal while gasoline stations reported a rush business of motorists who took to the highways in an effort to find cool spots. Other cool things easy on their porches or lawns and confined their activity to sipping iced drinks.

Sport Activity Curbed Games in a junior boys baseball league at Neenah were postponed because of the heat and attendance at golf courses and tennis courts was cut.

Increased sales of ice cream, lemons, bottled soft drinks, bathing suits and electric fans were reported at local stores.

Believes Bill Is Dead for Session

Wheeler Says Changes in Transportation Act Prohibit Agreement

Washington—(P)—Chairman
Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the senate interstate commerce committee said today the general transportation bill is "dead for this session."

The house made so many changes in the senate-approved measure before passing it yesterday, Wheeler said, that it would be out of the question to compromise the difference before adjournment.

He explained that he would ask the senate to send the bill to a joint house-senate committee for study and would suggest that the committee meet in the fall and report at the start of the next session.
Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) of the house interstate commerce committee said there was nothing in the house draft which would prevent a joint committee working out "a fine bill."

Integrated Bar Bill Is Killed by Senate

Madison—(P)—The senate today killed, 19 to 12, a bill to establish a legal state bar association.

As passed by the assembly the measure, known as the integrated bar bill, required all practicing attorneys to be members and authorized the supreme court to establish an organization and set up conditions for membership.

Before defeating it the senate adopted one amendment by A. J.
Connors (P) Barron, requiring that 75 per cent of the members approve rules laid down by the court, and another by Kenneth White (R) River Falls, fixing an annual membership fee of $5.

After Cornelius T. Young (D)
Milwaukee, failed twice to block a final vote, Connors moved non-concurrence.

The bill was introduced in the assembly by Mark S. Catlin (R) Appleton, and Robert E. Tahan (D) Milwaukee.

SLAYS WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW

Joseph Devroy, 56, tavern operator, told Brown county authorities at Green Bay that he shot and killed his estranged wife, Lena, 45, (pictured with him), and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Emily Kaiser, 65, a short time after he was served with a divorce action. Devroy then wounded himself when trapped in a field by police officers.

Garner 'Poker-Playing' and 'Whisky-Drinking' Enemy of Labor, John L. Lewis Charges

Washington—(P)—John L. Lewis, CIO chief, charged today that Vice President Garner, whom he termed a "poker-playing, whisky-drinking, evil old man," was responsible for recent attacks on labor in congress.

Lewis accused the vice president of responsibility for recent attempts to modify labor legislation and declared he would oppose Garner "when he seeks the presidency in 1940."

Shortly after Lewis made his remarks, Garner was found in his office adjoining the senate chamber where he had been presiding.

The CIO chief's statements were read to him by reporters. His heavy white eyebrows contracted for a moment, then he chuckled and said, "I have no comment to make."

Lewis' remarks about Garner climaxed his testimony before the house labor committee in opposition to proposed changes in the wage hour law.

Launches Attack
"The origin of these recent attacks on labor is not hard to find," Lewis said, swinging around in his chair and staring above the heads of the committee members. "It is within the Democratic party."

Then he charged that the opposition came from "a labor-baiting, poker-playing, whisky-drinking evil old man whose name is John N. Garner."

"Oh, some people may get up and say I made a personal attack on Garner," Lewis declared. "Yes, I make a personal attack on him because it is Garner's knife that is searching, swinging around for the heart of labor and I'm against him."

Speaking slowly and dramatically, his voice sometimes rising in pitch, Lewis said that he was

Deal Completed for Sale of Cotton to France, Switzerland

Washington—(P)—Senator Byrnes (D-S C.) announced today that negotiations had been completed for the cash sale, at a discount under the prevailing world price, of approximately 75,000 bales of government-held cotton to France and Switzerland.

Byrnes said negotiations now were underway with one unnamed country for an additional sale on the same basis. He and Chairman Tamm (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee introduced enabling legislation today.

Under terms of the tentative agreement, Byrnes said, this government would sell the cotton for a minimum price equal to the world quotation minus the government's carrying charges for 18 months.

Carrying charges, including storage and insurance on government loan cotton, now average about $4 a year, making the minimum price to be quoted to the foreign countries $6 a bale less than the world market.

In return, the purchasers would agree to store the cotton for five years as a reserve military supply, thus keeping it off the market.

Eau Claire Man Is Mangled by Train

Eau Claire—(P)—Martin Ludwig
Johnson, 24, of this city was instantly killed here some time last night when he was run over by a Chicago and Northwestern train.

Johnson was walking along the tracks on his way to or returning from a roller skating rink when the accident occurred. His body, which was badly mangled, was found by a woman couple walking home.

County officials said they have been unable to determine what train struck the youth.

Regents Bill Has Approval Of Assembly

Passed Under Suspension Of Rules Despite Progressive Objections

SINGLE AMENDMENT

Foes Charge Bill Means Dykstra Ouster and Frank Return

Madison—(P)—Creation of an entire new board of regents to supervise the University of Wisconsin seemed assured today when the assembly concurred in the Roethe reorganization bill advocated by Governor Heil. The vote was 57 to 38.

The bill was approved under suspension of the rules over the objections of Progressive leaders, who charged it was the forerunner of a move to replace President Clarence A. Dykstra and return former President Glenn Frank.

Ignoring this charge, Republican leaders pushed the measure through final passage with a single amendment which required its return to the senate.

The present board of 14 members would be abolished and nine new regents would be appointed by Governor Heil.

The house amendment provides that John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction be an ex-officio member, as he now is.
This change provoked no controversy, but it must be sanctioned by the senate.

Administration spokesmen declared the existing board is too large and unwieldy and that the reorganization plan would improve the administration of university affairs.

A half dozen amendments by Paul Alfonsi of Pence and Andrew Bi-emiller, Milwaukee, Progressive floor leaders, to require certain qualifications of the new appointees, were rejected.

Age Pension Bill

A bill liberalizing the state's old age pension law was introduced by the Republican controlled rules committee yesterday and referred immediately to the special joint committee set up to consider pension legislation.

Speaker Thomson (R) of Richland Center, ex-officio member of the rules committee, was noncommittal when asked if the measure had administration approval.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Double (R) of Milwaukee, would increase the maximum pension from $30 to $35 a month, with a provision the top would go to $40 if the federal government paid half the amount. Federal pension legislation is pending.

The federal government under the present law, pays 50 per cent of the amount, the state 30, and the county, 20.

British Cabinet Is Given Guard

Scotland Yard Holds Three and Questions Scores in Bombings

London—(P)—Scotland Yard put Prime Minister Chamberlain and other cabinet members under special guard today, held three men for examination and questioned scores in a search for terrorists following yesterday's series of five bombings.

The explosions, in which one life was lost, occurred as the house of commons adopted drastic measures to combat the outlawed Irish republican army.

Extraordinary precautions were in force today at all railroad stations, including two where bombings occurred in the last 24 hours.

The houses of parliament and the British Museum were the objects of closest scrutiny.

Reading newspapers said Scotland Yard was looking for "a man with a satchel" who was believed seen yesterday at Kings Cross station just before an explosion there with one and perhaps two companions.

At Kings Cross station Donald Campbell, Edinburgh university lecturer on his way home from a Paris honeymoon with his bride of a few months, lost his wife. Mrs. Campbell was injured seriously. In all, 15 were injured there and 5 at Victoria Station in a later explosion.

Missing Man and Boy are Found in Minnesota but Third Person Being Sought

Minneapolis—(P)—A boy and a man, lost in the northwest woods, were safe today but hardly had their fate been solved when new reports of a third missing person were made to police.

Rescued from the depths of the Paul Bunyan forest, 175 miles northwest of here, at nightfall
Wednesday was 6-year-old Russell Jensen of Albert Lea, Minn., who had been missing since Monday morning.

Shortly afterward, from isolated Lake Manitow, 50 miles north of International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, came word of a successful hunt for Frank C. Lambert, 53, chief of the Chicago sanitary district.

Lost, however, was Stanley
Boots, owner of a public house, who was reported to have been seen last night.

Treasury Backing Action of Hull in Ending Trade Pact

Modify Lending
Bill in Attempt To Win Passage

Senate Leaders Act; House Democrats Plan Caucus Friday Night

Washington—(P)—The senate leadership modified the $2,490,000,000 lending bill today in an effort to obtain prompt passage, while house Democrats scheduled a clear-cut test of sentiment on the measure at a caucus tomorrow night.

The senate move was initiated by Democratic Leader Barkley, who offered an amendment to eliminate the necessity for levying tolls on a projected $500,000,000 road building program.

Barkley said his amendment would leave it up to individual states and communities whether tolls should be levied. He added it would permit states and localities to take over construction, maintenance and repair of highways and to pay for them in whatever way they could find, provided it was acceptable to the public roads bureau.

There was a belief in administration quarters that Barkley's amendment would eliminate much senate opposition to the bill.

In the house, however, the legislation was creating a major fight among Democrats which probably will be settled at the party caucus.
The meeting, called by a petition of 51 members, will decide party polity on the lending bill.

A group of anti-administration Democrats, including many from the south, was talking of boycotting the meeting so that a majority would not be present to transact business.

Additional trouble was being stirred up for administration leaders in the house banking committee, where one Democratic member asserted he had "solemnly shaken hands" with three other Democrats to tie up the lending bill in the committee until the senate has voted on it. The committee has been considering a companion measure.

Alleged Hatchet Wielder

Waukesha—(P)—Edward Abel, 45, charged with the hatchet murder of 76-year-old Mrs. Olive Le Roy, testified yesterday he remembered nothing of what happened immediately after a "streak of fire" shot across his eyes while he was talking to the elderly woman.

He told the circuit court jury trying him on a first degree murder ing that made him angry.

"I was so mad I just burned up," he said. "I don't know what I grab-she slapped me the last time."

He added:

The defendant, who took the stand after the state rested its case, and slapped his face.

She made him angry, he related, when she told him another man had

Then, Abel said, the "streak of ted them by the agricultural adjustment administration.

Previous quota provisions of the a fixed part of their grain from markets even though they planted within their acreage allotments.

Senate, Wearied By Tax Debate, Ready to Quit

Either Sales Tax or No Tax Bill at All Likely To be Result

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—As Republicans in the legislature continued to skip gingerly around the subject and gave no signs of an early agreement, the tax program in store for the Wisconsin session today surpassed understanding and defied prediction.

Out of a careful canvass of legislative opinion it might be concluded that Governor Hail's personally devised revenue program—a complicated miscellany of economy, sales taxes, income taxes, utility taxes and others—will be riddled almost beyond recognition before the legislature finishes it, and that the final result will be:

1. A stiff general sales tax which will raise enough money to allow generously for pensions, relief and similar purposes, and send copious amounts of revenue back to the localities for tax reductions; or

2. No new taxation at all, but a desperate decision to adjourn and allow Governor Hail to make good on the Republican's economy reform by forcing him to make ends meet with present revenues.

Republicans who have been wrestling wearily with the gravest problem yet to fall into their laps, the problem of finances, today were showing signs of peevishness as negligible progress toward a settlement of the problem was apparent.

There was considerable annoyance at the repeated changes of front by Hail and his secretariat.

One of the results was an undeniable growth of sentiment for the sales tax, provided that it can be so doctored that it may not be objectionable to the public—which to legislators means the voters.

There were two attitudes on how to overcome what political dopesters see as a considerable prejudice to the sales tax among Wisconsin people.

One school believes that if a mild sales levy is enacted and if it is earmarked exclusively for charitable purposes, there will be small public protest.

"People know that relief, and pensions, and aids to children and Bang's disease indemnities are necessary; a sales tax will be accepted if it is passed for those purposes," opined one prominent Republican senator who has been instrumental in holding up Hail's own tax bill so far.

Other sales tax advocates—including some legislators who are weary of the incessant pressure of the groups who have been howling about the Hail tax proposals—feel that the appeal should be to the property taxpayer, the effort to overcome the public prejudice against the sales tax.

"There are more property owners and farm owners now sore at high taxes than there are people on relief and pension," said another senator. "If we can send $15,000,000 a year back to the local governments, and show those property owners next year a cut of 15 per cent in their taxes, the sales tax may be a good thing for us, besides helping us out of our own mess here."

The latter task is the one being followed by the lobbyists who are working day and night to defeat Governor Hail's proposed imposts on motor oils, new truck taxes, and liquor and other commodities. By convincing legislators that the sales tax is the best and easiest way out of their dilemma, the lobbying group feels, they can avoid the new taxes on their own businesses.

One legislative representative yesterday was busily distributing a sheet of figures showing the results of sales tax legislation in 23 other states which have adopted the system. One state is supporting its entire school system from the receipts of sales taxes, it was said, and other supports its entire public welfare budget while others have shown substantial reduction in property taxes through that method.

While there was an impressive array of senators committed informally for the sales tax as a way out, success for that alternative could not be predicted today because of the peculiar balance of power arrangements in the state senate.

It is probable that a couple of the Republicans won't be able to make such a suggestion. In fact some of them have argued that the mere possibility of a sales tax is embarrassing to them because of their campaign commitments last fall. Progressives are certain to fall in line solidly against such a proposal, while the Democrats are likely to be antagonistic.

The today the tax situation in the legislature was confused and obscure.

More and more the comment is heard: "We ought to adjourn and go home, and let the governor run the government on the money he has in the present taxes. Then we'd have to have economy."

Senator Vandenberg declared that he was "very glad" to find himself in agreement with the state department and from other Washington political leaders came words of approval.

Embargo Possible

Any legal obstacle to an embargo on raw materials shipments to Japan was thus removed, and congress when it meets next January may consider the embargo resolution which Senator Pittman (D-Ind.), chairman of the foreign relations committee, recently introduced.

Japan has professed a desire for American friendship throughout the Chinese-Japanese warfare and particularly during recent difficulties with Britain from which emerged Britain's recognition of the "special requirements" of Japanese military forces in China.

Japanese newspapers gave top display to the news from Washington instead of the British-Japanese negotiations.

Franco Encounters Crisis Which May Make or Break His New-Found Government

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—Spain's Generalissimo Franco would appear to be encountering a political crisis of such gravity as will test to the last ounce the leadership which brought him victory in the recently concluded civil war.

Spanish sources in Paris and on the French-Spanish frontier report that the long smoldering hostility between the two major political factions among his followers—the fascists and the monarchists—finally has reached white heat.

Each group seeks to control the nature of the new Spanish government.

Thus, if these reports prove to be accurate, the inevitable has happened. General Franco's nationalist army is made up of as many interests as there were buyers in Joseph's coat of many colors. Having settled their bloody argument with the Madrid government they now must iron out their own differences.

Monarchical Task

Franco's task is to reconcile the diverse views and prevent further upheaval. But if and when he has achieved that, he still will have to secure the cooperation of the embittered forces he conquered. It is a monumental task. The position would seem to be as forecast by the writer on Dec. 6, 1936, six months after the revolution started:

"The conflict cannot be ended by a major victory by either side, say the experts. The political differences are so diverse, so bitter and so irreconcilable, that the fight is bound to go on until the final future records the survival of the strongest group."

The rivalry for power between the fascists and monarchists has been under way almost since the inception of the revolt. The fascists—al falangists, as they call themselves in Spain—are under the immediate leadership of Franco's brother-in-law, Ramon Serrano Suner, minister of the interior in the Franco government. The fascists demand a rigid dictatorship and close ties with Italy.

The opposing monarchists include many of the old-school army officers, as well as other elements which feel their beliefs will be best served by this faction.

Demotes Generals

The dangerous clash between the fascists and monarchists is said to have been accentuated by General Franco's demotion of two widely known generals who long have been outspoken champions of the monarchists and harsh critics of the government. These officers are Gen-

Mrs. Pelikan to Be Arraigned in Michigan Aug. 4

Woman Will Face Charge Of Embezzlement at St. Joseph

The Outagamie county sheriff's department was notified today that Mrs. Josephine Pelikan, 40, will be arraigned in justice court at St. Joseph, Mich., on a charge of embezzling $4,400.

Mrs. Pelikan is suspected of being the woman who married Frank Pagac, former Oneida farmer now at Ladysmith, and absconding with $4,500 of his money. Information on her arraignment date was sent here by Charles L. Miller, sheriff of Berrien county, Michigan.

Another charge awaiting her in Michigan has been filed by a Joseph Brcka who claims the woman married him in 1933 and then left with his life savings, $3,700.

A warrant has been issued for the woman's arrest by District Attorney Raymond E. Rose. The name on the warrant is Rose Pagac.

After prosecution of the Michigan case, Dohr will attempt to have the woman brought here for trial. Similar charges have been filed against her in Cadillac, Mich., and Racine.

Lacerates Scalp in Swimming Accident

Donald Brittnacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brittnacher, 122 S. Memorial drive, suffered a lacerated scalp in a swimming accident at Lutz park yesterday. The boy struck bottom when he dived into the shallow waters of the lagoon off the park. He was treated by a physician.

Childbirth Mortality Cut, Still Room for Improvement

Chicago—An obstetric audit in the journal of the American Medical association today shows the United States has made "decided and accelerated strides" in reducing deaths of mothers in childbirth.

Dr. Scott C. Runnels of Cleveland who analyzed the statistics, reported a 30 per cent drop in the maternal death rate—from 7.0 per 1,000 in 1929 to 4.9 in 1937—but saw much room for improvement, concluding: "If obstetric conditions were as favorable over the entire United States as are those existing today in a quarter of the country, there would be an annual saving of 2,500 lives."

Bearing children is many times safer today, he said, than in 1929 when the United States stood third from the bottom among nations reporting to the international health office.

"While there is much that can and should be done to improve American obstetrics, the situation is not as unfavorable as both the public and the profession have been led to believe," declared Dr. Runnels, secretary of the Hospital Obstetric society of Ohio.

Dr. Runnels said a statement of the quoted is that 22,000 women die annually in childbirth, but reported the fact is that in 1937 only 10,769 deaths were due to the puerperal state.

"Again the statement has been made that American hospitals are unsafe places in which to have a baby born... but suffice it to say that the statement should not have been made to apply to all hospitals," he commented.

"The hospital death rate is and will continue to be augmented as long as women are rushed to the hospital as a last resort."

His charts indicated in 1937 Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, New Jersey and Maine led the states with less than four maternal deaths per 1,000, and that the highest death rates—more than six—were in the south, which also had the smallest percentage of women delivered by physicians.

Britain Ready to Guard Hong Kong, Officials State

American Protest Registered Against Japanese Searchings

Hong Kong—An American protest against Japanese searchings in Canton was registered today as British officials of nearby Hong Kong declared their readiness to defend that British colony against any attack.

United States Consul General Myrl S. Myers made oral and written protests to the Japanese consulate-general in Canton after the first day of a Japanese blockade of the Pearl river and restrictions on entry into Shamen island, on which are Canton's British and French concessions.

Leisurely Japanese search of all Chinese entering and leaving the island delayed Chinese employees of the American consulate-general, which is on Shamen—for many hours. Only one Japanese searcher was stationed at each of the two bridges leading to the island, thus necessitating delays of half a day for many of the Chinese lined up waiting to cross.

Foreigners were allowed to pass without search upon showing identification papers.

Prepare For Attack

Major General Arthur E. Gra-

seil, commander of British troops in Hong Kong, told the crown colony's legislative council that in the future an attack might be made on Hong Kong but "if that happens we shall resist to the full strength of our resources."

"It is our intention to defend the colony to the end, and those proclaiming to the contrary are making mis-statements," he said, seeking to allay increasingly widespread fear, particularly among Hong Kong's 1,000,000 Chinese residents, that a major military threat might result in Britain's abandonment of this colonial outpost.

The colony's governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, also attempted to quiet mistrust of the trend of British policy in the Far East by assuring the council that the preliminary British-Japanese agreement in Tokyo does not "indicate or foreshadow a weakening of Britain's Chinese policy."

The Tokyo agreement accorded British recognition to the "special requirements" of the Japanese army in occupied areas of China.

The council gave final passage to a measure applying conscription to Hong Kong. After signature by the governor, the measure will make all non-Chinese male British subjects between 18 and 55 subject to compulsory military service.

Camp Reservations For Week of Aug. 3 At Onaway Closed

C. C. Bailey, boys' secretary at the Appleton Y. M. C. A., said today no more 1-week reservations for Camp Onaway will be accepted for the camp week beginning Aug. 3. Reservations are being accepted, however, for the full two-week period or for the last week of camp, beginning Aug. 10.

More than 78 boys have registered for camp to date and reservations are still coming in. The truck carrying the luggage will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 1:30 in the afternoon, Aug. 3. Information about camp will be sent to the parents before that time. Bailey reminded mothers to mark their sons' clothing before camp opens.

Simple Foods and Fruit are Essentials of Summer Diets

Madison—"What kind of food shall I give my family during the summer?" How often we hear housewives ask this question! The state Medical society has many helpful suggestions for summer diets in its health bulletin today.

"Simplicity in the preparation of food should be stressed in the summer; food cooked in simple ways and without elaborate sauces or seasonings will retain more of the delicate natural flavors and therefore be more appealing and more enthusiastically consumed. Fried foods, elaborate desserts, and hot breads are all things which can be relegated to the past or future."

"Energy foods are necessary in the diet, but their need may be based upon one's activity. During the hot weather, if one is less active than in winter, he may eat smaller amounts of foods with high caloric value such as bread, butter, jams and jellies, cereals, potatoes, desserts, and candy. However, if he is as active in summer as in winter, he should not reduce his food intake."

Fruits Essential

"Fresh fruits and vegetables help cool the body because of their large water content. During the summer months the water consumption should be increased to compensate for the water lost through perspiration. Fruits form an essential part

Congress Wonders If Hatch Measure Is Constitutional

Attorney General Murphy Has Been Asked For Opinion on Bill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—There is an undercurrent of gossip in the administration which indicates that, if there were a possible way to find objections to the new Hatch bill casting doubt on its constitutionality, this circumstance might be used as a basis for urging President Roosevelt to veto the measure.

Attorney General Murphy has been asked by the White House for his opinion on the bill, and Senator Hatch, its author, has given the department of justice his views. The bill is a sweeping regulation of the activities of government employees in relation to elections and political affairs. Has the congress the right to adopt such legislation?

Some time ago the supreme court of the United States held that the congress cannot pass laws governing state primary elections, but this is a far different thing from congressional regulation of the behavior of government employees.

The true situation from a constitutional viewpoint is whether the federal government, as an employer, may specify the conditions under which it will hire or fire its personnel. If the congress wishes to specify that all federal employees have not only to be public persons, it can do so. If it wishes to say that federal employees shall not in any way make public information obtained in government offices, it may do so. If the congress wishes to prevent improper use of governmental "influence," it may do so. There are plenty of statutes which surround federal employees in the conduct of their relations with the outside world.

Were it to be held, on the other hand, that the congress has the right to pass laws prohibiting political activity by federal employees, it would mean that every administration for many years, Republican and Democrat, has been acting in an unconstitutional manner with respect to federal employees covered by the civil service rulings prohibiting political activity. Likewise, it would mean that the Walsh-Hesley act relating to government contracts, up to now it has been assumed that the congress may specify the conditions under which work may be done for the government, and lately this has included the specification of certain labor standards which must be met.

To pull out from beneath the Walsh-Hesley bill and similar measures the supposed constitutional support they have had would, indeed, be an embarrassing blow to the administration.

The issue involved in the new Hatch bill is one of disciplining federal employees so that they may not improperly use their public positions or governmental power. This is clearly within the prerogative of congress to regulate. Even such doubts as may exist in the administration circle about constitutionality will hardly be given more than passing consideration elsewhere because of the precedent established by the president with respect to the first Guffey coal bill, when he urged congress to pass it even though it appeared to be of doubtful constitutionality. The reasoning then, which might be applied now, was that the courts could "pass on the measure."

It is quite possible that Mr. Roosevelt will sign the bill, but will attach a statement implying doubt as to constitutionality. This would be taken as a signal for putting the statute to a test in the courts. It may be difficult, however, to get a test case because whoever violates the law may be subject to criminal penalties if convicted.

Meanwhile, a vast army of officeholders who had expected to be delegates to the next Democratic national convention will have to forego that privilege. It has been assumed in some political quarters that the officeholders will name delegates just the same to act for them, but even this indirect process might involve a prosecution for political activity within the meaning of the law.

The federal officeholders throughout the country, irrespective of party, usually have been able to re-nominate a president when the second term succession has been up for consideration, and politicians generally have been assuming that it would be the same in the case of a third term. The friends of vice President Garner, who feels that, to win the nomination, he must defeat the federal officeholders' machine, look at the Hatch bill as a challenge to the third term.

Under the circumstances, the betting is better than even that Mr. Roosevelt will sign the bill, because to veto it is to put the whole third term controversy on an entirely different plane—the power of an incumbent administration to succeed itself—and that's precisely the issue to be avoided if it be sought to prove later that the demand for a third term for the president is not artificial but spontaneous.

Crop Insurance Plan Will be Introduced

A crop insurance program, which may be applied to wheat seeded for harvest in 1940, will be introduced to Outagamie county farmers within the next few weeks, according to Tom Dorsey, of the county agricultural conservation committee.

Issued originally from the Federal Crop Insurance corporation in Washington, the announcement said the program is awaiting approval from Secretary Henry Wallace. The rules, it is said, are to make it easier for growers to insure their crops and will affect many economies in operations.

The wheat crop insurance program applies to all wheat growing areas.

BOY IS FOUND

After being lost for eight days in the tangled underbrush of Maine's northern wilderness, Don Fendler, 12, of Rye, N. Y., stumbled into the home of a guide near Sherman, Me. Emaciated and all but naked, the boy said he had lived on berries. He is shown here shortly after emerging from the wilderness.

State May Have to Purchase Fire Lanes to Settle Problem

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A suggestion that the state provide funds to purchase right-of-way for the fire lane network today appeared to be the only way out of a problem which has given the state conservation department more difficulty and more concern than any other involved in the fire-fighting system built up to protect Wisconsin's vast private and public forest areas.

H. W. Mackenzie, director of the state conservation department, recently reviewed the fire lane problem before members of the legislature.

Discussing the controversies and the dissatisfaction which prevent policies have caused, he said that if their property, while old settlers nearby were forbidden the use of the roads.

Recently, too, local businessmen and officials in the northern counties have repeatedly petitioned the department to open the lanes to tourist travel. When the department refused, on the ground that it was legally unable to do so, more bitter feelings were provoked.

One of the most sensational protests against closed fire lanes was that made by the chairman of the town of Lincoln in Forest county a few months ago. The chairman, Clyde Spencer, staged a protest strike by perching atop a fire tower for some days.

A deluge of protests against the closed lanes always accompanies a deer hunting season, when hunters feel aggrieved because easy access to their favorite hunting haunts is denied them. According to conservation department reports, feeling has run so high in some of the northern counties that gates to some of the lanes have been torn down and destroyed, or hauled away entirely. Many bootleg keys to the gates are also supposed to be in use.

Holds to Policy

But the department holds first to its policy of withholding the lanes for its own forest protection service, and for the easement grantors. According to E. J. Vandervall, chief of the forest service, "unrestricted fire lane travel would defeat the purpose for which fire lanes were constructed. Unrestricted fire lane travel would increase the number of fires starting by injecting a greater human risk into these isolated territories; would work a hardship on game by breaking down the large natural refuges making them accessible to hunters so that the game could be driven from one road to another. It would greatly increase the burden of law enforcement, in attempting to patrol the added road poachers."

The department points out that the lanes are not maintained by ordinary tax funds, but are supported entirely by the license receipts of the conservation department and the specific forestry tax.

The issue, according to conservation department policy, is "Shall we have protected forests with road, or unprotected forests without roads?"

Claim 2 Million Appropriation for Relief Inadequate

State Grant Large Enough To Absorb Half of Local Burden Is Sought

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The $2,000,000 annual state relief appropriation recommended by Governor Heil today was branded as inadequate by the Wisconsin County Boards association which asked for a state grant large enough to absorb at least 50 per cent of the load now borne by county and other local governments.

An amendment to the administration's revenue bill, proposing to earmark $10,000,000 of state receipts for direct relief purposes, is before the state senate for consideration. Authors were Senators Kawronski, Milwaukee Democrat, Mack, Shiocton Republican, and Nelson, Superior Progressive.

Large is the cost of administration in the state relief office that only a little more than a third of the proposed relief appropriation will actually go for relief aids, according to the association, which produced figures on state office costs fair this fall, J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, said today. Any girl in 4-H club activity may enter. Purposes of the contest are to emphasize the relation of health and grooming, to encourage "natural" mannerisms, and to make proper grooming a life habit.

showing prior claims on the relief funds will aggregate more than $100,000 a month.

Increased Demands

According to A. J. Thelen, legislative representative of the county boards, increased state relief appropriations are imperative because local tax delinquency is increasing the saturation point, and the new WPA program throws new burdens on the localities.

He pointed out that there will be a 20,000 reduction in WPA employment in the next year over the last year, and that wages will be reduced on WPA projects because of the new regulations abolishing the "prevailing wage" principle. Such rules, Thelen quoted P. D. Flanner, state WPA head as saying, will bring wage increases to WPA workers in southern states, and cut to those in the west and north, including Wisconsin.

The real estate taxpayer is already struggling under a greater relief load than he can carry, according to the county association, and the Heil tax bill and its relief allotment will make it heavier. He pointed out that huge delinquencies are characteristic of those counties with the heaviest relief demands, and that delinquency in all counties is rising.

The Fox river valley counties, for example, show these figures for tax delinquency at the time of 1938 tax sale, Thelen told legislators today: Brown 22.07 per cent, Outagamie 17.85 per cent, Manitowish 30.32 per cent, and Winnebago 42.75 per cent.

REAL ESTATE TAXATION IN WISCONSIN

Before the legislature there is a bill to prevent our cities, towns and other taxing units levying property taxes in excess of those levied in 1936.

On the face of things, and because of the pyramiding demands everywhere for public monies, the proposal has the aspect of reasonableness. But that view is dissipated when one digs down a bit under the surface. The various municipalities, if they had the authority, would themselves prohibit the legislature from imposing upon them further obligations. It certainly will be necessary for the state to be clipped of its power to pile up debts for the municipalities to pay before it puts a limit upon what the municipalities themselves may raise. But the legislature is superior in authority to the municipalities. So the desirable result which has to do solely with economy must originate at Madison.

Placing a limit upon the taxing authority is a very natural demand at a time when all backs are bent and every property owner or income earner is struggling under a heavy burden and one that we view our debts going skyward, must needs increase.

Our legislature has passed laws which require municipalities to raise and pay out funds irrespective of whether the people in those municipalities wish to do so or not. It is evident that to limit taxation in the municipalities and at the same time direct how substantial sums shall be spent is burning the candle at both ends and in the middle so far as any local freedom of action is concerned, and is effectively destroying home rule, one of the finest ideas ever promulgated both in fixing responsibility and giving the people substantial control over their dollars and their affairs.

It is said that the bill to limit property taxes to the 1936 level originated with real estate men. That is nothing against it. They have the cardinal right to look after their own interests. But if the bill so originated it should sound a warning because real estate taxes are becoming so oppressive they are looked upon as a major deterrent to real estate sales. And when the public authorities so act that they plug up the natural sales which are so conducive to building, extension and betterment, they are effectively putting a brake upon the free movement of property, an essential to the normal employment we all crave.

Instead of employing various devices at Madison to make things seem what they are not we need most of all a saving in public expenditure, a return to home rule in its full bloom and a simplicity in our taxation laws and burdens that will aid the citizen in gaining some fair understanding of what becomes of his money.

Under circumstances, as they exist today, and until the Heil administration puts into effect a genuine retrenchment in public spending, the proposed law to limit municipal taxes may only have the effect of further bewildering an already nonplussed taxpayer.

But if actual state retrenchment is made, as promised in the campaign, then a reasonable limit upon local taxation units might well appear like something additional thrown into the bargain altho it would probably be unnecessary.

YARDSTICK OR SCARECROW?

In the debate over issuance of bonds to buy private utilities within the range of the Tennessee Valley Authority some acrimonious charges were made against the slivers and dry-rot in the pretty little yardsticks that were to be developed so that a busy people might measure even as they ran to work. And the fact that the yardsticks were accused of deceit and shameful hypocrisy practically without defense makes the situation worse though clearer.

"A rank fraud and a delusion" was the way Congressman Harness of Indiana described the pretty little yardsticks. His attack was directed upon the two vulnerable spots in all these socialistic ventures. First, there is utter falsification as to their cost. Second, there is utter falsification as to their rates.

When the national government picks up a billion dollars, say, of the people's money and with it constructs a far-flung power system those involved, and who wish to make a pretense of success out of what begins to look like failure, immediately cut down the capital investment of a billion by 40, 50 or even 70 per cent and charge the balance to "improvement of navigation" even where they destroyed navigation entirely, or to "flood control" even as, in Texas, they lost all control of the floods.

And Mr. Harness was unsparing in denuding the income report of its remaining sham. The supporters of this socialistic enterprise, he said, claimed that "It will save 4 million dollars a year to users of power through lower rates," and then they slammed the book expecting applause and no more questions.

But Harness persisted in pointing out that the private utilities already absorbed paid in 1937 a total of $4,700,000 in taxes which the TVA as a governmental enterprise avoids entirely in order to try to make a good showing.

So the net result to date for this gigantic enterprise is that the people have invested hundreds upon hundreds of millions in order to pay out, all costs considered, more for their power than ever.

Banker Whitney was put in prison for less than that.

A VISIT FROM MARS

Today Mars is within shouting distance of the earth, speaking in terms of the universe where distances stretch out forever. And for the next 17 years it will be pulling away from the mere 36 million miles that divide us, and probably because it has other calls to make. Heavenly bodies dare not approach too closely to one another.

Schiaparelli literally put Mars on the preferred list of our luminous friends when he announced discovery of its "canals" which was given a too literal translation into "canals" with the restricted definition that term connotes. But since then Mars has been one of the most popular and colorful planets because the telescopes show its surface as a light red and the "goblin-will-get-you" artists and writers have pictured life on the planet as somewhat akin to ours but its inhabitants as strange creatures moving mysteriously through forests a mile high.

Separating both wishful hankerings and hold fiction from the leaner facts our scientists tell us that they have conclusively established that Mars has a transparent atmosphere and water. This makes the sort of life we know possible and probable.

But the astronomers declare they have established, too, that the Martian atmosphere holds only 3 per cent as much water vapor as ours and less than one per cent as much oxygen. So they conclude that while life of a sort may exist there it is hardly the life of our sort.

While, of course, logic is hardly a fair weapon in trying to fathom the mysteries of the unfathomable universe at least no single reason has ever been presented why human life should have been limited to the very trivial planet upon which we reside, hardly in itself more than a speck of dust against the uncharitable heavens.

And if conditions exist elsewhere in the universe under which man can breathe, grow and develop, why should he not be there? Easily as life is snuffed out in the individual it is actually one of the toughest things in the world should anyone try to uproot it and destroy it entirely. The race has persisted through centuries of ignorance when it was unhoused, unclothed and unfed, so if it were given but a little oxygen and a fraction of its desirable water vapor it would probably meet the exigency just as it has come up from the black pit with banners flying.

But as the astronomers vision for us the terrific changes of temperature and the swiftly freezing and thawing polar regions on Mars and leave us with our imaginations in full play it may be more practical, to abruptly dismiss the reverie for matters at Madison and Washington more intimately associated with our every day life.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

"MY WIFE BETSY"

"My wife Betsy!" How his heart Colors his warm tone when he Speaks her name. She makes an art
Of her domesticity.

In her cheerful house she is High priestess and oracle.
Home's abundant harmonies Shed enchantment over all.

She has clever hands and weaves
Beauty in the common scene.
Like the Spring, she grows new leaves
Where the barren bough has been.

"My wife Betsy!" When he says
Her dear name, his cares grow less,
Finding in a spoken phrase
Synonym for happiness!

WHENCE RELIEF MONEY

A primary interest of the American Association of Social Workers in studying current relief in the nation was to learn how those not on WPA are supported. Its report deals largely in general figures, with specific data for certain states. It estimates that at the beginning of this year 7,000,000 families were receiving some form of public assistance. The 1930 census recorded about 30,000,000 families in the United States, but that total has increased in nine years. The association of social workers accepted the federal government's definition of "general relief." This term applies to families or individuals receiving "home relief" from public funds exclusive of categorical assistance paid under the Social Security act, or under state laws as aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, old age assistance, and excludes also assistance through the WPA, CCC, NYA and other federal work agencies, and Farm Security administration.

The all-time high in public aid to the unemployed was attained last November, when 23,000,000 persons received $328,000,000 in the thirty days of that month. More than half of this money was for WPA wages. The figure is more significant in the light of statistics collected by the Social Security Board and pub-

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—On July 27th in a year I desire shall be anonymous, he was born in the town of Allegan, state of Michigan, a man-child; and lo, it turned out to be me.

There was a mother, of course; Claire; and a father, Guy. Three years later, to the same little cottage came Sister Helen; and the family was complete. "I want a boy, then a girl; just the two." So the mother had prayed, and so it came to be.

Roll on the years. In the damp coldness of a Chicago winter Death, wearing the robes of pneumonia, slunk into Presbyterian Hospital, found a man lying there, touched him. So passed the father, swiftly, mercifully.

Remaining were three—a young mother and her two babies—just the babies she had wanted—a boy and a girl. These two she raised. Through years of ill health she struggled to feed, clothe and school them. Day by day she taught music, earning the money to support her children and herself.

Their high school was barely done when, with apoplectic suddenness, Death took her, too.

Of the little family that had dwelt so briefly and happily in the tiny Allegan cottage, only two remained; the girl, beautiful as a spring morning and lovely as an angel, and the boy.

The girl became a bride, a mother. Then suddenly in the full bloom of her exquisite loveliness, she, too, was gone; and of the little family which had dreamed of happiness in a cottage, only the boy was left.

Death is such a fool.

Bring on the birthday cake, garcon! Ho Ho! Life! Memory is such a depressing thing. Away with it! Away with the mind's pencillings of the past—the little cottage (I can see plainly the bed of nasturtiums blooming in the center of the lawn, and the ferns flourishing nearby), and the three who now are dead (how fine they were, else how can it be that even now, so long afterward, I have only to close my eyes and see their smiles, hear the music of their voices?).

Away with memory, Madness' prompter! Garcon, the cake! Fetch it closer, that I may the better blow the candles' flames. How brightly they burn—and how many there are! Still young, garcon? You are a stupid fellow. Young? Death, garcon, knows no age. They, too, were young; and they are gone.

See the candles, how brightly they burn? If they could speak, they would tell you that they would burn a long time, yet a single breath, and the light is gone. The wick, which was white before touched by flame, will be black. Always after it has burned it will be black. A symbol, garcon, 's'il vous plait.

The cake, Pretty little candles, topped by flames that come to peaks, like dunce's caps. Ten, twenty, thirty—oh, bother the number. It isn't how old a man is, it's how young he feels. Quet! One—two—Pouff! See? Now they are gone—the candles' flames. Each flame was a year, each year a delirium of dreams and disappointments, a crazy carousel of comedy and tragedy, victory and defeat; each year a Heaven of hope—a hell of heartbreak. Men call it Life.

Happy birthday you say, garcon? Eh? Oh, yes; quite. Happy birthday to the last of the Four—to the blade Death left for later harvest. Happy birthday—

Well, why not? WHY NOT! What does memory hold that the Future cannot give! Happy birthday to me! What matter that the candles of the lost years burn no more? There must be more candles—and more fire to set them blazing!

Sing, my heart! Sing—and God will cherish thy Dead.

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, July 30, 1914
Austria bombarded, and occupied Belgrade, the Serbian capital. Russia declared "the die is cast," refusing to reconsider determination to fight in behalf of Serbia and was mobilizing four army corps of 1,280,000 men. Czar Nicholas personally was to lead his troops. Germany still held the world in suspense, waiting for Russia to assume the offensive. Hope for peace was believed blasted despite interchange of telegrams between kaiser and czar.

Germany began to concentrate her army along the German frontier and her navy in Mediterranean ports, preparing to attack Germany and aid England. Great Britain was prepared to stand by the Triple Entente against the Triple Alliance. Spain was assembling its fleet in the Mediterranean and mobilizing the army. Belgium was pushing preparations for defense, putting 100,000 men on war footing.

Thursday, July 25, 1929
The endurance plane St. Louis Robin piloted by "Red" Jackson and Forrest O'Brine was still going strong as it neared the 300-hour mark that afternoon. They had exceeded the former world endurance mark by nearly two days.

Agreement by Great Britain and the United States upon the principle of naval parity, or equality in fighting strength in the fleets of the two nations, was described that day by Secretary Stimson as a "very immense and tremendous step forward toward reduction."

Donald Ralph, Karl Ek and Tad Meyer had been selected to compile the list of Onaway camp leaders, according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary of Y.M.C.A. Those previously selected were Ted Bolton, Robert Mortimer, Stephen McMahon, Alvin Woelcher and Mike Gochbauer.

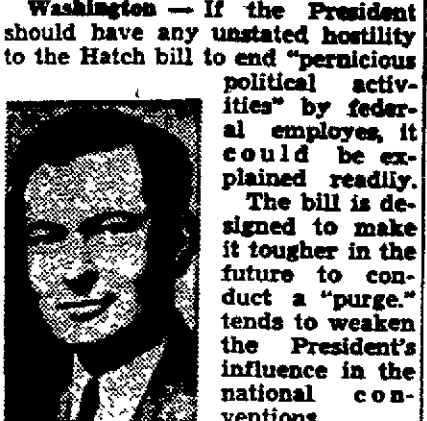

lished in its April Bulletin. It cites an outlay of $44,900,000 in February by states and municipalities for general relief to 1,800,000 cases, not persons. This represented a rise of 22 per cent in the monthly cost of general relief compared with November, and a rise of 20 per cent in the number of cases. One major reason for this rise was the decline in WPA employment soon after last November.

It may aid the layman to retain his perspective in thinking of relief to recall that the WPA itself has been spending about $167,800,000 a month in the current fiscal year. Naturally, a reduction of WPA pay rolls would tend to increase state and municipal expenditures for general relief, which were $44,900,000 in February.

The American Association of Social Workers observes of this part of the picture of responsibility: "The principal change has been a shift from one type of relief program to another, from a higher standard of assistance to a lower, from federal funds to state and local." Two essential facts should qualify such an observation, however. One is that the so-called "higher standard" relief of WPA did not help the jobless to find work in private enterprise, for if it had, the all-time peak of public aid would not have come last November, three years and seven months after WPA was created. Another fact is that "Federal" funds come from another place in states, cities and towns, and that taxpayers are not as interested in a distinction between federal and local funds as they are in the difference between federal and local economy in relief. The WPA has not been a form of relief which has assisted business recovery. Yet President Roosevelt has asked congress for $1,477,000,000 more for WPA for the new fiscal year.—New York Times.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — If the President should have any untested hostility to the Hatch bill to end "pernicious political activities" by federal employees, it could be explained readily. The bill is designed to make it tougher in the future to conduct a "purge" tends to weaken the President's influence in the national conventions.

Part of the measure in both Senate and House came from members who had to withstand the hammering of the New Deal to survive in the 1928 elections. Other support came from independents or so-called conservatives wishing to trim the New Deal influence.

The measure is designed to retire to the side lines a whole group of office-holding delegates to state and national conventions, a blow at presidential control. As interpreted by its author, Senator Hatch of New Mexico, the measure lashes out hardest at the Federal Building politicians out in the states. In times past these groups have made up huge blocks of delegates to national conventions. Such office-holding delegates are in large measure the "President's men." It was that way also under Republican regimes.

Practically every employee of the executive departments of the Federal government is covered by the bill, cabinet members and their assistants, and major administrators, excepted.

F. D. R. Took Out Postmasters Incidentally, under the civil service order of last year postmasters were taken out of the political wars. In years past the postmasters have been the precinct and county quarterbacks.

The Hatch bill calls out of play the approximately 100 federal district attorneys with their 400 assistants. Out also are the collectors of internal revenue and their host of tax gatherers, U. S. marshals and their deputies, often enough party wheelhorses out in the states, are fenced out as delegates to state or federal conventions.

Liquor law enforcement agents and hordes of Department of Agriculture agents also take the role of spectators. Hatch thinks the bill is strong enough to sterilize politically even county agents, who are paid in part by the Federal government and part by the states, and who often influence local farm groups.

The bill prohibits federal hirings from being precinct or county chairman, and from soliciting party funds. It is expected to jar the party machinery in many states into new hands, the hands of men who do not owe their jobs to the national administration.

Members of Congress and their staffs are exempt. The members leave themselves free to work for reelection, safe from the mass attack of Federal employees in their districts who might otherwise be directed to aid in a Congressional purge.

Attempted In 1935

Oddly enough, much of the material used in defense of the legislation was compiled by a Republican, the late Senator Steiwer of Oregon. He tried to push through a similar piece of legislation in 1935, prior to the 1936 presidential campaign.

Steiwer said frankly that Republican administrations have been the worst offenders since 1900 in packing national conventions with Federal appointees. It used to be that a Republican president could march into a convention carrying a very large majority of delegates in his pocket. They were the Republican delegates from the southern states, nearly all of whom were of office holders. In 1908 Theodore Roosevelt had 338 delegates from the south under his wing, within 153 of a majority to be turned over to his chosen successor.

The southern power in Republican conventions since has been reduced. But even in 1932 under Hoover 234 of the 1,152 delegates to the Republican convention came from the south. Altogether an estimated 400 or more delegates were Presidential appointees.

Steiwer said that Republican conventions were likely to be free of such abuses while the Democrats were in power, but added with a note of whimsy:

"Additional scandals in Republican conventions will be deferred until the day when the Republicans again control the appointee."

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Those fellows who said I would be close to the planet Mars this week were sure exaggerating. I couldn't have seen less if I'd depended on television.

I saw what the experts said were canals, but a canal project is nothing new to anybody who has lived in this country under the PWA. Still, they seemed to be more in a state of completion on Mars, and if they're being paid for by taxes, it's no wonder there were no Martians visible anywhere.

The shadows were not up to the press notices and looked more like dirt to me. But we don't want any trouble with Mars and we might as well call 'em shadows and not start anything. A lot of folks who were scared by that Orson Welles radio broadcast of an attack from Mars were pretty nervous and kept imagining things, but nothing happened. I imagine Martians are more afraid of us than we are of them. The earth must seem to be a terrible

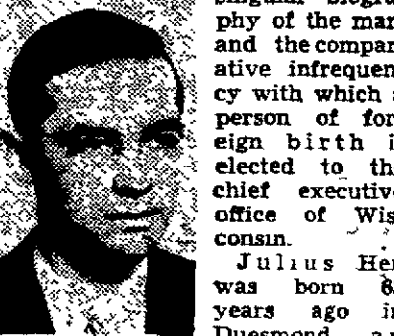

WHEN DUTY CALLS

Under the CAPTIVE DOONE

BQ JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Governor Heil's birthday party at the Madison club this evening serves as a reminder of the singular biography of the man, and the comparative infrequency with which a person of foreign birth is elected to the chief executive office of Wisconsin.

Wyngaard was born 83 years ago in Duesmond, Germany, which makes him one of the very few foreign-born governors in Wisconsin history.

The first man of foreign deviation who occupied the Wisconsin governor's office was Edward Salomon, a Prussian by birth and a son of a hero at Waterloo. An "undertaker" governor, he took office on the death of Governor Harvey during the Civil war.

The second foreign born governor was William E. Smith, who was born in Scotland, and like the present executive, was a successful Milwaukee businessman. He was elected in 1877, after a considerable career in the legislature, by the Republicans on a sound-money platform.

The third foreign born governor was a Norwegian, James O. Davidson. Like Salomon he succeeded to the office from the lieutenant governorship, but unlike him, he was elected and reelected. He became governor in 1906 upon the resignation of R. M. LaFollette, Sr.

FEW NATIVES

It might also be recalled how few native sons Wisconsin has elected to its highest state office. The first native born executive took office in 1900, 64 years after Wisconsin had attained territorial status, 52 years after it had reached statehood. The first native son honored was the elder LaFollette.

Since 1900, however, all except two governors have been born abroad in Wisconsin. The two were Davidson and Heil.

Before 1900 most executives were of New York-New England origin. Connecticut and New York have contributed more men to Wisconsin government than Wisconsin, because of the heavy sprinkling of eastern young men Wisconsin received during the early days of emigration in the last century.

ADD CANDIDATES

Persons who are usually well-informed on such matters say that John Thiel has been tentatively picked by the LaFollette high command to lead the resurrection of the party next year as the candidate for governor.

Thiel is now the $7,000 director of the state tax commission, expects momentarily to be relieved of his duties by the Republicans. A native of Calumet county, he has in late years lived in Mayville, in Dodge county.

MRS. GOLDFY

It frequently happens that the men in politics who don't assume to leadership and the limelight are as interesting, upon examination, as those who make the speeches and the headlines the year 'round.

As an example is Assemblyman Goldthorpe of Grant county. He has nothing to have around the neighborhood.

Canals, shadows, red spots and all, Mars can't be in much worse shape, everything considered, than we are. And I ain't even considering the Budget, the New York City, self-liquidating recovery programs, Hitler, Mussolini, British policy or the dry spell.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

CHRONIC FATIGUE

Glossitis means inflammation of the tongue. Only by exertion of will power, or won't power, did I refrain from perpetrating another frightful term, such as malonychoptrophy which means poor nutrition of the nails. Really it is not always easy to talk down to the level of college professors — for that matter one finds it difficult to make even Dr. Webster understand everything.

Everybody knows what chronic fatigue is. Not everybody comprehends that it is usually a manifestation of disease or impairment of health and not just sheer indolence. For instance the languor of the early teens due to lack of sufficient iodine; the shirtness of pellagra victims (nutrition impaired by insufficient intake of vitamin-B-complex); the inanition of individuals suffering from hookworm infestation; the strange apathy, in one not ordinarily so disposed, from anoxia of exposure to carbon monoxide in small amounts in the home and the melancholic dull inactivity that comes to the woman formerly vivacious and cheerful, when her thyroid function slows up a bit. These are more or less frequent causes of chronic fatigue. A cause too often overlooked, usually because it is not looked for, but always to be borne in mind as a possible explanation for constant tired feeling in youth or adolescence, is incipient pulmonary tuberculosis.

Perhaps more frequent than any of the causes of chronic fatigue mentioned is moderate nutritional anemia due to insufficient daily intake of vitamin B-complex. Altho this extremely prevalent type of anemia (hypochromic anemia) responds well to treatment with large doses of iron (at least a hundred times as much iron as the blood requires), provided the diet is not unduly restricted, it is now pretty clearly established that an adequate daily intake of vitamin B-complex is the best assurance that the blood will get all the iron it needs (about one-fourth of a grain a day) from ordinary foods, for the vitamin B-complex (perhaps vitamin G, otherwise known as B-2 or riboflavin, particularly) controls the assimilation and retention of iron.

The characteristic condition of the tongue in cases of well marked vitamin B-complex deficiency commonly accompanies chronic fatigue and malonychoptrophy, if you will pardon the monstrosity. The tongue is red and shiny, pointed rather than rounded, and often feels sore or burning — sufferers sometimes ascribe the burning to "acid fruits" or to other items of diet.

Perhaps only the trained physician can recognize the tongue indication of malnutrition in mild cases. Almost any one can arrive at a fair idea of the condition of the nails. The typical effects of vitamin deficiency shown by the nails are slow growth (normally it requires three to five months to grow a fingernail, twice as long to grow a toenail), transverse ridging, pitting, fragility, thinness, spoon nails. Probably shortage in daily sunshine, hence vitamin D intake contributes toward poor nutrition of the nails.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

May Fever

Please send me your hay fever remedy. (H. B.)

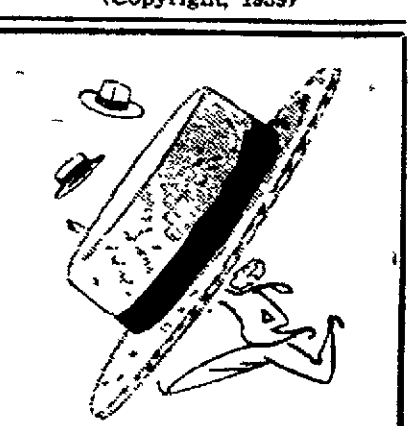

Answer—One is five grains of potassium chloride taken dissolved in a glassful of water three times a day after food for a week or ten days. Another is rich calcium diet, calcium gluconate or calcium lactate or dicalcium phosphate plus vitamin D over a period of several weeks before and during the season. For detailed instructions send stamped envelope bearing your address and repeat your request.

Postcard Will Not Suffice

H. L. D. complains on a postcard that he has not seen an answer to his inquiry about wheat germ which he mailed nearly two weeks ago. (What a Life.)

Answer—O! Doc Brady selects such questions as he thinks suitable to answer in print. Correspondents who expect answers must inclose with their questions a stamped (3c) addressed envelope. Postcards, loose stamps, pennies, chalk, slightly used stamps, blank envelopes and other impediments simply will not do.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, 263 El Camino, South, Beverly Hills, Calif. (Copyright, 1939)

Republican Picture Won't Be Clear for Quite a While

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington—The embarrassing prospect of two Republican presidential candidates springing up in Ohio has been resolved in favor of Senator Robert A. Taft who is expected to announce his candidacy next week.

The way was cleared by the self-elimination of Governor John W. Bricker, who announced in Columbus that he was not a candidate for the presidential nomination, never had been, and that brother Taft would make a good president. Brother Taft thinks so, too, so it apparently is unanimous and the Ohio convention delegation seems to be his.

This situation in Ohio had possibilities of becoming ugly. Governor Bricker, a stalwart, handsome devil with the aggressive flair of Paul McNutt, held a goodly chunk of the state machine, had a healthy ambition to go on up, and showed himself last November to be about as good a vote getter in Ohio as Senator Taft. He polled a slightly larger vote but had a somewhat narrower margin over his opponent.

Governor Bricker didn't have the national comph of Senator Taft, who has been speaking to national radio audiences, barnstorming around the country, debating in the senate to an extent far beyond that of the average freshman senator, following through the hereditary advantage of a White House name.

Even in Ohio, the Republican voters apparently would rather keep Governor Bricker in Columbus than send him to Washington, because only a few days ago a Gallup poll of Ohio Republicans gave Taft 62 per cent for president and Bricker 36 per cent. That may have been the straw vote that broke Bricker's back. At any rate his renunciation followed close upon it.

So Ohio has its Republican presidential hope all set up now in the tall, ramrod-backed, baldish, bespectacled elder son of the Taft dynasty. To the Taft family's wealth and prestige, son Robert brings, if not his father's full-bellied humor, at least an engaging eagerness to please and be liked, a willingness to talk about almost anything almost anywhere, and an ability—for all you may have heard about his shortcomings as an after-dinner wit—to express his convictions with force and clarity. In fact some of his Republican associates

Hollywood — It's impossible to visit a Deanna Durbin set without sensing there, that same light-hearted gaiety which is so apparent in her finished pictures. Her sets are "happy" sets—the various members of the production crew work together with the efficiency and co-operative spirit of a well-trained football team and the back-biting friction so common in movie studios is conspicuous by its absence. And right there, I think, is one of the fundamental causes for Deanna's consistent record of success.

The teamwork of that troupe is not an accident. Joe Pasternak, the man who has produced all of the Durbin pictures, is responsible. When he was assigned the first Deanna Durbin production, he was given the pick of the studio's available help. Instead of selecting the most famous cameraman, or the most highly touted technicians, he picked a crew that in his opinion would work together as a unit. And he's kept that crew as nearly intact as circumstances would permit. Bruce Manning, the writer, has either authored or collaborated on five of Deanna's six pictures. Joe Valentine, the cameraman, has worked on all six. Director Henry Koster is now on his fourth. Frank Shaw, the assistant director, has been on all of them. Even the sound men and the electricians, by virtue of experience, have become Durbin specialists.

I have no wish to detract from Deanna's share in the success of her pictures, but, unquestionably, she owes a lot to those men behind the scenes.

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: The dog doesn't live that won't revert to tall-wagging puppyhood when Jeanette MacDonald scratches his ears. Give Annabella her choice of chairs at a party and she'll invariably take the one in the darkest corner. Maybe it's just my imagination, but it seems to me Ann Sheridan's laugh has become much louder since her success. Best way to unleash the Bob Montgomery eloquence is to mention early Colonial architecture. It's Joan Crawford's trick of investing all statements with a confidential flavour that sends her interviewers away in a rosy haze. George Murphy has yet to outgrow the yen to slide down the banister.

CUFF NOTES: Peter Lorre is collaborating on a story based on the crime career of "Jack the Ripper" and will shop for a producer. Fred MacMurray and Bing Crosby will co-star in "The Road to Mandalay" and here's the surprise: It's Fred who will sing the theme song. Ida Lupino's cousin, Antoinette Lupino, has signed for a screen debut with an English studio. C. Aubrey Smith celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday, the other day, by finishing an autobiography.

MUTTERINGS: Think how scared poor Robinson Crusoe would have been if that footprint in the sand had been Greta Garbo's. Ode to mayhem: to ask some of those superannuated glamour girls who rhumba so laboriously in Hollywood night clubs, "Seriously, don't you think you're a bit old for this sort of thing?" Wonder how the man who conceived and wrote the story feels when he sees his name in tiny type on the credit title and the name of the "adapter" five times as big? Imaginable hilarious evening: refereeing a discussion between Hitler and Mae West on "Woman's place in the Modern World."

Assembly Kills Bill to Extend Milk Price Law

empted them from the necessity of obtaining a license. A number of valley assemblies representing counties containing regulated milk markets, voted with the majority to kill the bill. Among them were Pritikin and Niemuth of Winnebago county, Gantner of Kaukauna, Lytle of Green Bay, Peik of Chilton, Spearbreaker of Clintonville, Sweeney of De Pere, Shimek of Kewaunee. Voting for the bill were Catlin of Appleton, Grass of Sturgeon Bay, and Schlyter of Shawano.

Madison—(P)—Assemblyman Theodore Swanson (P) Ellsworth introduced a resolution today asking Ralph Ammon, director of the department of agriculture and markets, to prepare a statement showing the cost of production and distribution of fluid milk.

It was referred to the committee on agriculture.

Swanson said it was generally conceded the farmer gets less than two cents a quart for fluid milk and added that the consumer pays 10 or 11 cents.

He asked that Ammon submit figures for each of the regulated fluid milk districts showing the net and gross receipts of the farmer and distributor, together with labor and delivery costs.

Dairymen of City Don't Agree Over Regulated Market

Voice Opposing Views on Effect of Abolishing Price Law

Managers and owners of Appleton dairies didn't agree today whether expiration of the state milk price control law would be a good or bad thing for Wisconsin.

Out of four dairy officials interviewed, two said they would like to see the law abolished and two believe that ending of state control can mean a lowering in the quality of milk sold on the market.

"I think the majority of dairies would operate just as they are now," one man said, "and I'd like to see the law abolished. There should be an adjustment in milk prices. Prices should be lowered."

An owner of a dairy remarked that "the farmers will be the first to suffer if state control is ended." He declared that free prices will mean an unstable market and believes firmly that there will be "chiseling" and that the quality of milk will suffer.

"Control of milk prices has protected only about five per cent of the farmers and ought to be wiped out," one manager asserted. "The law has protected only the large producer at the cost of the consumer. The consumer was never really invited to hearings and he was penalized by regulated prices."

A fourth man interviewed over the phone was of the opinion that the present law "isn't quite what it should be" but that "if there is no order, no regulation, dairies will be able to sell milk cheap and I'm afraid the quality will decrease."

Canoe Tests, Fishing Trips, Raft Rides Keep Scouts Busy

Gardner Dam — A group of 15 boys, led by Jack Bylow, swimming director, took a hike to Boulder lake Wednesday. The scouts were scheduled to take examinations for their canoeing merit badge. Sam Porto headed a group of scouts on a fishing expedition up the river.

Also called a hike but actually a raft ride was the raft voyage led by Bill Spaulding. The scouts walked up the river a few miles, built rafts, and navigated down the stream to camp.

The Menasha Wooden Ware troop won another baseball game, walloping Marion 12-6.

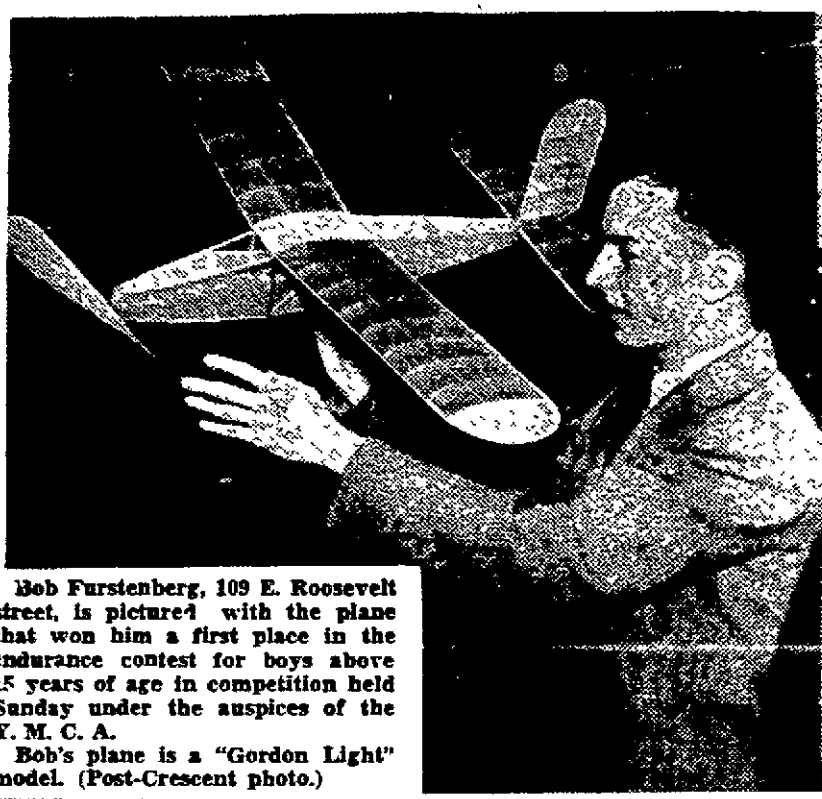

Following are the names of scouts who have received various awards at camp. Those who were given their first class badges last weekend are Lee Hershberger, Sam Atcherson, Cliff Hammond, and Owen Brown.

"And I'll be against him when he seeks the presidency in 1940," Lewis led up to his remarks about the vice president by criticizing Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, for asking congress to amend the wage-hour law "before he had undertaken his job of enforcement."

The labor leader declared the law had not been given an opportunity to demonstrate its effectiveness or weaknesses.

"Renegade Democrats"

Then he discussed what he called the "spectacle that has confronted the nation in recent months where the Republican minority in the house, joined by 100 or more renegade Democrats have conducted the war dance around the prostrate form of labor in the well of the house."

The occasion of Lewis' appearance before the labor committee was a meeting to determine whether efforts might be pressed at this session of congress for amendments to the law.

Preceding him on the stand, a spokesman for the American Federation of Labor testified the federation was "absolutely opposed" to revision of the wage-hour law being considered in either the house or senate this session.

W. H. Hushing, national legislative representative of the federation, made the statement as Lewis sat nearby waiting to testify.

Commenting on proposed wage-hour amendments Lewis said that "I object to Mr. Garner when he seeks to hang about the necks of labor proposals such as these."

"And I say," he continued, "that all these amendments could be laid aside for the rest of this session. I hope that the wages and hours administration will give close attention to the act from the standpoint of its enforcement, and not from the standpoint of getting it amended."

"The people are hungry and millions are unemployed and this congress has made no contribution to the welfare of the people in the seven months it has been in session."

"I say to you, don't chisel away at this act. There is no possible misunderstanding as to the attitude of labor toward these amendments."

Committee Speechless

Lewis' statements about Garner left the committee speechless. No one uttered a word when he concluded. He resumed his seat among spectators briefly and then left the hearing room.

At the door, he remarked to reporters: "You must understand that it came from my heart, because I spoke extemporaneously. I meant it."

Asked whether he linked to Garner the opposition to the wage-hour act in the rules committee, Lewis responded, "you don't want me to amplify that, do you?"

After a brief executive session the committee recessed until afternoon. Members said they were not hopeful of a compromise on wage-hour amendments.

Before Lewis testified W. D. Johnson of the railway labor executive association, which has represented 1,000,000 railroad workers, told the committee the workers were "deeply concerned" over the success of the wage-hour act.

"There are some persons," he said, "who would gladly destroy the minimum wage provision of the law."

"We feel that the time is inopportune to amend this act in any way."

2 Autos Damaged in Traffic Accident on E. Wisconsin Avenue

Two cars were damaged in a collision on old Highway 41 in front of the Wagner Auto Sales on E. Wisconsin avenue at about 10 o'clock this morning, but none of the occupants was injured, county highway police reported.

A car driven by Mrs. Clifford Lange, Little Chute, struck the rear end of a machine driven by Chester J. Sawall, 506 E. Randall street. Both cars were traveling west and Sawall was starting to make a right turn when the accident occurred, highway police said.

Mrs. Lange's car hit a cement post in the garage property after the collision. The front end of her car and the rear of the Sawall machine were damaged.

Treasury Backing Hull's Action in Ending Trade Pact

obtain action at the next session on the embargo resolution which he recently introduced. The United States is Japan's principal source of war materials, and Pittman would exclude only agricultural products from the embargo.

Pittman's note

Pittman said of Hull's note: "I think it's a wise and justifiable act."

Senator LaFollette (P-Wis.), a member of the foreign relations committee, said the move was designed to show Japan "the course of this country is wide open in future dealings with the Japanese."

Proponents of the embargo believe it will break the Japanese advance in China and force her to withdraw to her own shores. Opponents have expressed fear it might lead the United States into war.

Hull's note, on the face of it, was an innocuous notice with no reference to China, to an embargo, to rights of Americans in China, or to the Sino-Japanese war.

The note set out that in recent years this government had been examining its treaties of commerce and navigation with other countries to see if any changes were needed. It then said the government had concluded the 1911 treaty contained provisions which needed new consideration.

Barrier to Embargo

The treaty was considered by the state department a legal barrier to an embargo because of its language. If the United States, with this treaty in existence, were to impose an embargo on the shipment of certain products to Japan, it would have to impose an embargo on the shipment of the same products to all other countries.

The treaty contained a clause stating it could not be abrogated until six months after notice of termination had been given.

Hull's move followed a series of far Eastern developments in the last few days affecting Americans or American interests. On Monday he expressed the United States' concern over the increasing number of American-Japanese incidents in China. On the same day an American naval warrant officer, Robert A. Baker, was assaulted by a Japanese naval sentry at Hankow and arrested.

Yesterday two Americans at Peking—Father Daniel Scannell of the American mission of New York and M. E. Smithberger of Hampton, Minn.—were slapped by Japanese soldiers.

Major Trade Items

Cotton, scrap iron, petroleum, iron alloys, machinery, automobiles and airplanes are the major items which Japan has been buying lately from the United States under the 1911 commercial treaty.

Commerce department figures showed today that last year 21 per cent of the United States' $239,620,000 sales of merchandise to Japan were cotton, while Japan's $126,820,000 sales to this country were 63.5 per cent raw silk.

Japan's sales to the United States reached a peak of $431,873,000 in 1929, declining almost steadily every year except 1937, when the total was $204,001,000. Peak United States sales to Japan were in the same year, when Japan took unusually large amounts of scrap iron as well as cotton and other products.

Although individually one of the major nations in United States foreign trade, Japan last year bought only 7.7 per cent of all United States exports, while this country bought only 6.5 per cent of its total foreign merchandise from Nippon.

Officers Will Meet Taverns To Prepare for Fond du Lac

The city officials softball team will meet the Maritime Taverns at 6 o'clock tonight at Spencer field in a practice tilt to polish the attack against Fond du Lac city officers who will show their Sunday evening.

The Fond du Lac game is of real importance to the officials because the boys want revenge for an 8 to 6 drubbing received at Fond du Lac about a month ago. And then again it is an inter-city game against other city officers, which means something, or does it?

The Appleton team has been losing pretty regularly and will put its best foot forward to win Sunday's game, which will be held at 8:15 under lights at Spencer field. A charge of 10 cents will be made to cover the cost of the lights.

Fond du Lac's hurler will be its city attorney, Allan Edgerton while Herb Rosenthal will be behind the plate. John Litcher will be on first base, Lawrence Jones at second, and Louis Andrew at third. Leonard De Rusa will be the short stop. In the garden will be John Murray, city clerk, E. H. Pawsat, city physician, and Carlton Rothger.

Alderman McGillan, captain of the Appleton squad, said today he thought he would start Alderman Bogan in the pitcher's box and Clarence Baetz, treatment plant superintendent, behind the bat.

He will pick his team from the following: Walter Van Ryzin, plumbing inspector; W. U. Gallaher, water plant superintendent; Art Harzheim, assistant city electrician; Alderman Delain; Alderman Brautigan; John Pierre, building inspector; George Peotter, assessor; Alderman Feavel, Ted Albrecht, Henry Crowe, Lawrence Reinke, and Tony Starke.

STEWARDESS

Mary Evangeline Kilinkner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kilinkner of Chilton, has been named stewardess on United Airlines transcontinental planes. Her work will take her from coast to coast. Miss Kilinkner has been employed as a nurse at the Cook County hospital, Chicago, since her graduation two years ago from Theda Clark hospital, Neenah.

Committee Considers Fence for Bleachers

The city council's recreation committee last night discussed the purchase of a wire fence to protect spectators using the bleachers during baseball games at Spencer field. The bleachers are unprotected and spectators could easily be injured by a ball hit into the crowd. The committee will suggest the purchase of a fence when the council meets Wednesday night.

Plenty of Troubles Pop Up For Farley and Rayburn as They Act as Peacemakers

Washington—(P)—Troubles that befall peacemakers in the Democratic party are fairly well exemplified by the woes of Chairman Farley and House Leader Rayburn.

Both have been in a position, through past friendships and present neutralities, to work for a welding of the factional elements of their party. Both are facing threats against their leadership. The long muffled sniping inside the party may easily break into open warfare before congress can be hurried out of town.

Farley, after a decade of friendship and close association with President Roosevelt, has been pushed into a hot spot over the third term issue. Both advocates and opponents of the third term have been trying to drag him into line for or against such a stand by Mr. Roosevelt.

Franches Compromise

Though Farley undoubtedly has thought about the presidency for himself, the chief argument he has presented to other Democrats has been for a spirit of compromise which would enable the party to rally wholeheartedly behind a single candidate next year and thereby increase its chances of winning. However, his efforts in this direction have been complicated by the ever-recurring third term issue.

Rayburn, preaching compromise like Farley, has contended all through this session that peace lies within the party was not a futile hope. He has argued time and again that differences between Vice President Garner and Mr. Roosevelt were more fancy than fact.

His long friendship with Garner put Rayburn in a position to try for conciliation.

Rayburn is a friendly and friendly-loving man whose personal philosophy is not keyed to strife with his fellows. Some members say only friendship for Rayburn has enabled the administration to get through as much legislation as it has.

However, the pent-up steam that has been held back through most of the session seems likely to break loose at the Friday night caucus of house Democratic members and blow the lid off the whole party row.

Man Awarded Divorce On Grounds of Cruelty

Joseph Portmann, 26, route 1, Chilton, was granted a divorce from Eva Portmann, 20, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment yesterday in municipal court before Judge Thomas H. Ryan.

The couple married in Appleton Sept. 29, 1937, and separated Jan. 1, 1938. There are no children.

Tornado Forced Menominees Into Sawmill Business

Shawano—Highlights of the history of logging operations on the Menominee Indian Reservation were outlined in an address by George C. Robson, sales manager of the Menominee Indian Mills, at a Rotary meeting here this week.

Robson pointed out that the nearness of the Indian sawmill has meant millions of dollars in business for Shawano in the last 70 years. "The remaining stand of uncut timber, under proper supervision and selective logging, will in the future provide more millions than has the past," he added.

Particularly interesting was the speaker's statement that a tornado in 1905 practically forced the Indians into the sawmill business.

Previous to that time, they had logged mainly white pine and sold it to outsiders and a hit-or-miss basis, because of conflicting laws on the right to cut and sell. The first logging was begun about 1871, and in 1890 congress authorized a 20-million-foot annual cut. This limit is now the law also. Between 1890 and 1906, about 300 million feet were cut, he said.

Only Way Out

The tornado, however, swept down about 35 million feet of timber, much of it heavy hardwood that could not be floated downstream, and much of it was on small streams where even softwood drives were impossible. Hardwood deteriorates at a rapid rate and manufacture was the only practical way out of the emergency.

In 1906 congress authorized manufacture of lumber on the reservation, and small sawmills were established. This was found unsatisfactory, however, and in 1908 the so-called "LaFollette act" was passed, laying down complete legal codes for the operations. In 1909 a sawmill was built at Neopit. Up to that time about 390 mil-

Lack of Lights on Car Brings Man a $5 Fine

Rudolph H. Hoffman, 1509 N. Oneida street, was fined $5 and costs yesterday in municipal court before Judge Thomas H. Ryan for driving at night with only one headlight and no tail light. Hoffman was arrested by a county highway policeman the evening of July 20 in Hortonville.

Edward Iverson, route 1, Bear Creek, was fined $5 and costs on two charges, one driving a truck without lights and the other for operating a truck without clearance lights or flares. His fine was remitted on the latter count. Iverson pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving without a license and the trial was set for Aug. 2. He was arrested the night of July 20 in Bear Creek.

Dubbe Describes New Social Work In Kiwanis Talk

Head of Children's Home Outlines Change in Methods

Neenah — The transition from the old to the modern scheme of social work—from mass treatment to individualized treatment—at the Children's Country Home at Winnebago, was outlined by Marvin Dubbe, superintendent, in a talk at the noon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday at the Valley Inn.

Unlike the old plan, which consisted of a kind of vocational school for boys, the Home is not a school but a resident home for taking care of boys and girls from broken homes, the superintendent declared.

Mr. Dubbe said that when the institution was started, it was for boys, but the first applicant was a girl; in fact, eight out of the first 10 children were girls.

Individual Treatment
"We are trying to break from the mass treatment to individualized treatment on a basis of study. The study of each case includes a complete check before the children enter the home, during their stay and after they leave," he said. He defined case work as a growing science in which most of the tools of the other professions are used, plus personal relationship.

Mr. Dubbe outlined the functions of the Home, pointing out that it takes care of neglected or dependent children who are either bordering or will develop delinquency unless checked. Although the average age of the children now in the Home is 11 years, the children are from four to 16 years.

The function of the Home is to substitute for a natural home situation which has been broken by social accidents which are hazardous to the children, while its purpose is to prevent loss of good citizens to society and prevent crime, the superintendent told the Kiwanians. And he added, "To make this a better world, for children are the hope of civilization."

Dubbe outlined the methods of conducting the Home and the programs for the children as well as the procedure used in accepting entrants.

Foundry Slated To Meet Waukau In Doubleheader

Wolf River Valley League Contests Will be Played at Neenah

Neenah — The Neenah Foundry will play a doubleheader against Waukau in the Wolf River Valley league at Washington park diamond Sunday afternoon.

Because one of its games against Waukau was postponed by rain during the first half of the season, the Foundry is forced to play the twin bill, the only opportunity to make up the game.

Neenah opposed Waukau in its debut in the Wolf River Valley league and suffered a 9 to 4 defeat. The Waukau nine, which last Sunday was allowed out of the lead when defeated, 6 to 1, by Omro, shares second place with Winnebago in the circuit standings, having won seven and lost four games.

The Foundry, which lost to Butte des Morts, 12 to 9, last Sunday, is in third place with four wins and seven losses. Butte des Morts and Omro are tied for first place with eight wins and four defeats.

Other league games Sunday will include Allenville at Butte des Morts and Winnebago at Omro.

Neenah's probable starting lineup will consist of Hackstock, c, R. Schroeder, cf, Metzger, 3b, Page, 2b, Gullickson, p, Peterson, rf, H. Schroeder, lf, Haufe, 1b and Pierce, ss.

Liam Hardt is the chairman of the event.

Lake park has been selected as a tentative site for the picnic but members have been asked to meet at the Labor temple at the old high school grounds at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon in case the location of the picnic is changed.

Softball Revolt Breaks Out In Menasha City Departments

Menasha—A mild insurrection has broken out among the departments of government of the city of Menasha but a speedy, and easy settlement, is expected shortly. The line-men of the water and light department under the direction of August Lipske, city electrical inspector, have challenged the city office force to a softball game.

The city office force accepted immediately and the game has been scheduled for next Monday night at the Seventh street field. The city office force will be bolstered by members of the police department and the fire department. Baseball talk is rife at the office with emphasis on the exploits of "Cabby" Godhardt and "Pepper" Resch.

Chief objector is H. O. Haugh, city health officer, who talks a very good game and protests that he has been barred as a professional because of his ability. "If they only gave me Heckrod to do the catching, we wouldn't need any other players. He's the only fellow who holds my slants. But they barred both of us."

The health officer has suggested that the city office force put the policemen in the outfield and give them use of the squad car to chase the fly balls. The water and light crew may protest use of Ted Beach by the city force but then Manager Lipske suggests that Beach be given a walk each time he comes to bat. Lipske is sure that no other players of the office crew will be able to drive Beach home.

Winnebago Holstein Breeder's Map Final Plans for Gathering

Neenah—Final arrangements for the summer picnic and get-together of the Winnebago County Holstein Breeder's association Sunday, July 30, at the Winnebago State hospital grounds have been completed, according to R. C. Heffernan, county agricultural agent.

The picnic is replacing the type and production Black and White shows, and it will consist of entertainment, numbers, recreational program, free ice cream, softball games, dairy queen contest and dairy cattle judging.

A discussion of the herd management program being carried on with the hospital herd will be given, and all the facilities of this herd that are at hand will be used in the analysis and judging contests. The judging contest will include classes for men, women and junior boys and girls. A dairy queen will be selected, and the winner will represent the county at the state dairy queen contest to be held during the state fair at Milwaukee.

The Larsen cooperative will hold its annual picnic Sunday, Aug. 6, at Winnebago.

The Winnebago County Guernsey Breeder's association outing was held last Sunday and nearly 300 attended. Dr. E. E. Heizer gave an analysis of the Jess Moon herd.

700 Hear Final Outdoor Concert

Vocal Solos are Feature Of Varied Program
At Smith Park

Menasha—The Menasha High school band presented a varied concert at the final outdoor program of the year Wednesday night under the direction of L. E. Kraft at Smith park. More than 700 people attended the concert.

Outstanding on the program were the vocal solos by Dolores Sylwanowicz, an eighth grade student at St. John's parochial school, and Norman Michie, junior at Menasha high school. Miss Sylwanowicz sang "By the Waters of Minnesota" as a vocal solo. Michie sang "The Rosary" by Nevin and the two joined their voices in "Victor Herbert's Favorites." The duet was particularly outstanding because the two have been working on the selections for only the last two weeks under the direction of Franklyn LeFevre, vocal music supervisor of the Menasha public schools.

Gerald Jensen and George Clark marked their final appearance with the band with a cornet duet, "The Pearls" by Kling. The two are veteran members of the band and have gained honors in district and state festival competition. The varied program of the senior band ranged from the vigorous "American Patrol" march to "Valse by East" an overture by Tschalkowski.

to an 8-all deadlock when the game was called because of darkness. The other league game was postponed.

Yankees Score in Every Inning as They Whip Browns

Bill Dickey, New York Catcher, Slaps Three Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—The champion New York Yankees tied one modern major league mark and almost tied another as they swamped the hapless St. Louis Browns 14-1 in the second game of their series here yesterday.

The mark they tied was one held by five other clubs of scoring in every inning of a regulation game.

Bill Dickey, the Yanks' great catcher, slapped out three home runs—just one short of the nine-inning record of four set by his former roommate, Lou Gehrig.

The Yankees' biggest inning was the fourth when they scored four times.

Meanwhile the Browns had to wait until the eighth before they could nick Red Hurling for their lone tally. Ruffing allowed only three hits and never more than one as he pitched.

Three pitchers were unable to stop the Yankee assault which gave the champions their sixteenth win against 25 losses.

NEWSON GOLF
Washington (AP)—Buck Newsom bested Joe Krukavskas in a pitching duel yesterday as Detroit scattered six hits, missing a shut out in the fifth when Mickey Vernon scored Cecil Travis with a sacrifice fly.

CHI SOX SPLIT
Boston—The Boston Red Sox felled another half game behind the New York Yankees yesterday and now trail the pace setters by seven and one-half games in the standings, by virtue of an even split with the Chicago White Sox while the Yankees were winning a single.

Bill Dietrich was credited with the opening victory although he retired in the eighth with the bases full. Clint Brown relieved him and smuffed out the rally. The Red Sox got nine hits while the White Sox were muffed 13.

In the nightcap the White Sox led by 5 to 3 going into the eighth, whereupon Jimmy Fox made his second home run of the day with one on to tie it and the Red Sox won in the next frame with three singles. The White Sox again made 13 hits and the Red Sox 10. Fox batted in five runs.

KELTNER HOMERS
Philadelphia (AP)—Cleveland walloped the Athletics 9 to 3 yesterday, outhitting them 17 to 8. Al Milnar held Philadelphia to no more than a hit an inning until the eighth. Nelson Potter was kept pitching for the As until the ninth, although he was in a hole from the second inning on. Ken Keltner homered for the Tribe.

Reach Finals of Tennis Tournament at Milwaukee

Milwaukee (AP)—Fourth seeded Marion Woolhiser of Winnetka, Ill., producer of the tourney's biggest upset, was paired against second seeded Frances Grossnickle of Columbus, Miss., in the junior division finals of the Western junior girls' and girls' tennis tournament here today.

Miss Woolhiser advanced to the final bracket yesterday by eliminating Mary Lou Beyer of Detroit, seeded No. 4, in 6-4, 6-3 sets. Miss Grossnickle scored a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Mary Burbach of Milwaukee, seeded third.

Girls' division finals today paired defending champion Muriel Magnusson of Minneapolis against Beverly Pawlak, also of Minneapolis.

In the semi-finals of the doubles yesterday Miss Magnusson and Miss Pawlak scored a 6-1, 6-4 win over Misses Grossnickle and Beyer, while Jane Edmonds of Detroit and Miss Burbach eliminated Mary Bunnell and Virginia Bradt of Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Los Angeles Is in Market. For Major League Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—Los Angeles is definitely in the market for a major league baseball franchise. . . . Rinside pews for Galento versus Nova will set you back 10 slugs each. . . . Eleven of the New York football Giants already have started training chores at the World's fair. . . . Sid Luckman intended signing with the Chicago Bears all along. . . . That trucking business talk was just a gag to get more dough—which Sid got.

Each of the first three schools would have bet you they had him. . . . Benny Davis, who wrote the song hit "Margie," now is working on one called "Two Ton Tony" in honor of El Galento.

Dean's Cunning Works and He Pitches Chicago Cubs To 10 to 2 Win Over Dodgers

CHICAGO (AP)—Dizzy Dean, his cunning once more restored, pitched the Cubs to an easy 10-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

Dean gave up only five hits, struck out four and didn't issue a single base on balls. In the first four innings only one Dodger, Art Parks, reached first, and he got there on Billy Herman's error.

Meanwhile the Cubs, aided by homers from the bats of Gabby Hartnett and Dick Bartell, were mauling Fred Fitzsimmons and Ira Hutchinson for 13 hits.

In the second game, the hitting of L. Konrad and Melvin Spencer featured. Each got four hits in four trips to the plate. Spence had a perfect day for both games.

Arnovich Shakes Off Hitting Slump

Gets Five Hits in as Many Trips to Plate Yesterday

Pittsburgh (AP)—Morrie Arnovich is back in stride after a brief hitting slump and being bearded won't rob the National league's topmost slugger of a chance to better his .370 average.

After getting only one safety in 19 times at bat, the Phillies' hustling left fielder smacked out two doubles and three singles in five trips to the plate yesterday.

But his hitting barrage ended abruptly in the nightcap of a doubleheader with the Pirates. Catcher Ray Mueller tried to pick him off second and hit him in the head. Morrie suffered only a bruise but was not allowed to stay in the game.

Joining fans in the grandstand to munch a hot dog, the 25-year-old Philly star said he felt "fine," would play in today's game with the Bucs and could have finished the doubleheader "but they thought it best not to."

Morrie found no explanation for his erstwhile slump.

"I'm just doing the same thing now," he said, "I take the bad with the good. That's the way it goes, and that's baseball."

Someone said he had a habit of shaking himself "like a hula dancer" to get out of a slump.

"No, that's not quite right," commented the slugger, "I shake my shoulders at the plate but just to loosen up."

Brewers Pound 17 Hits to Beat Columbus, 13-10

Milwaukee Gets Off to Early Lead and Maintains Pace

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers bombarded three Columbus hurlers for 17 hits and their third straight victory as they defeated the Red Birds 13 to 10 here last night.

Pitchers for neither side were a mystery, the batters fattening their averages to the tune of 33 hits, 10 of them for extra bases.

The Brewers got off to a lead they never relinquished when they combed pitcher Norbert Kleinke for three runs in the opening frame.

Columbus rallied for eight runs in the closing four innings. John Winsett drove in five Columbus runs with a pair of homers and a single.

Two home runs preserved the Minneapolis streak and vanquished Louisville's Charley Wagner despite his four-hit performance in a pitching duel with Bill Butland.

Valley League Gossip

MENASHA FALCONS hoisted themselves to the top of the Fox River Valley league standings with a victory over the Kimberly Papermakers last Sunday afternoon while Kaukauna Mellow Brews dropped a decision to Oshkosh to drop into a second place tie with the Cabs. Manitowoc was supposed to be the darkest horse of the season but is in the cellar position with five straight losses.

Christoffersen, Neenah second sacker, collected four hits in five times at the plate to lead his mates in a 5 to 4 victory over the Fischli Dairy tribe of Manitowoc. Gammye was the hero of the victory with a triple in the last of the eighth to tie up the score.

Snooky Van Dyke, Little Chute center fielder, batted 1.000 per cent last Sunday with four hits in four trips to the plate. He also made a sensational catch on a line drive rolling over to come up with the ball and end the frame. The has-cows were loaded on the play.

A new receiver will be in the Chute lineup next Sunday. Dazz V. Thiel is stepping from the Outagamie County league to the Valley league. Dazz was a classy backstop in the smaller league and has the zip to become a star.

Spanbauer, Oshkosh shortstop, drove in the winning run against Kaukauna in the first of the eighth to pull the Mellow Brews down into a tie with the Cabs for second place.

Little Chute will be host to Kaukauna next Sunday in the only game hereabouts. Appleton goes to Green Bay, Kimberly to Manitowoc, Menasha to Oshkosh and Neenah will be idle. The Chute-Kaukauna game should be a humdinger as Dago Schuler, former Dutchman moundsman, will be on the hill for the visitors.

Omar, the Menasha Falcon twirler, has been the sensation of the second half race. Getting off to a slow start in the first half, the Falcons are leading the league in this half mainly through his stellar twirling. He has won four straight games.

Collins, Green Bay shortstop, is a natural fielder taking grounders to the right or left of him with equal grace. He picked up three grounders in back of third base last Sunday against Little Chute that would do credit to a big leaguer.

Joey Vils, the Kaukauna pilot, came through as leadoff man again last Sunday with a home run and a double in three appearances. Vils is as fine a flyhawk as there is in the valley.

Menasha Falcons jumped on Lefty Behr in the initial inning for four runs with the team batting around before the side was retired. The Paulowski brothers, Ben and Steve, were worms in the Papermakers' sides all afternoon. Steve collected three hits in five appearances while Ben had a pair of walks and a single in three times up.

State League Notes

Thursday night the Clintonville Truckers will be at home to the Shipbuilders from Manitowoc. The Clinton seem to have hit their stride again after a brief mid-season lapse when the opening lap championship was tucked away.

All Sunday's engagements will be afternoon affairs. Green Bay travels to Manitowoc; there will be another battle royal at Seymour where Clintonville tangles with Row and company and New London tackles the Bears at Two Rivers.

Lucy Alberts, Two Rivers' speed-baller, took Green Bay into camp last Sunday by a 2-0 score. He only allowed the Clusman tribe five bingles. Aside from the seventh stanza, the school teacher was little bothered.

Clintonville still has the jinx sign on New London and the Truckers came from behind in Sunday night's game to send the invading Bulldogs home on the short end of a 5-4 score. It was a mound duel between Krull and Sabbath.

Seymour and the Shipbuilders split a double header at Manitowoc. Bill Ray's hirelings captured the first frame, 8-7 in 10 innings but the Borthmen took the second game 5-4 as Gale Kluckman pitched five-hit ball.

Mike Mouldowney, a veteran of many seasons, is coveting around like a youngster in the middle garden for Two Rivers. Mike went back into regular service after Rollie Meyer was put on the shelf with a chipped ankle bone.

Veteran Golfers Take Spotlight in Public Links Meet

54-Year-Old Philadelphian in Feature Third Round Match

BY BILL BONI
BALTIMORE—(AP)—The younger generation still is giving a good account of itself in the national public links golf championship, but for today at least the emphasis was on the veterans who have survived until the third round.

That was because the feature match of this morning's round of sixteen sent 64-year-old George Bradley of Philadelphia against 31-year-old Louis Cyr of Vancouver, Wash.

There could be no nearer climax for Bradley's long links career than to win the championship on his ninth try, and at easily twice the age of two-thirds of his rivals.

In Cyr, who went to the finals against Al Leach at Cleveland a year ago, he was meeting another veteran, for the west coast contender is playing in his fifth championship. Two others with an edge in experience were Andy Swedko, Pittsburgh steel worker who went to the semi-finals in 1937 and twice has qualified for the national open, and Jim Molinari, the San Francisco policeman who was public links medalist three years ago.

Meets 16-Year-Old
Bradley and Swedko fight it out this afternoon for a place in tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals, for they were in adjoining brackets, with Swedko paired with 16-year-old Carl Dezen of Durham, N. C., for the third round.

Below them in the lower-half pairings stood Arthur Armstrong of Honolulu, last of the four finalists, left in the field, Blocky Stevie Doctor of Buffalo, N. Y., Wes Berner of Portland, Ore., Mike Costello, the Montclair (N. J.) mail man. In the upper half the pairings sent "Dark Horse" Ken Peterson of Dayton, Ohio, against Phil Gordon of Oakland, Calif.; Willard McCay of Long Beach, Calif., against Roy Dolce of Denver; Molinari against John Krosko, another Daytonian, and Ted Gwin, Oklahoma university student, against Ed Furgol of Ufa, N. Y.

America OUT-OF-DOORS
DON'T NEGLECT THE RIVERS
There Are Fish Around the Bend
By Buell Patterson

ALL TOO many anglers are prone to neglect the rivers when fishing for anything except trout and do all of their work on lakes. There are reasons, of course, such as the greater ease of fishing a lake, but the rivers and streams are one of the best sources of game fish that we have and are well worth working.

Much spawning is done in our streams and where there is spawning there is almost certain to be fish. Fish like the idea of having a current bring food down to them and acquire a lot of ability in locating those spots where insects will come drifting along for meals.

There are many deep pools in the course of every fast stream where the big fellows lurk and where they can be induced to rise to a fly in the evening or to take a smash at a plug when dusk is setting down on the water. Many a giant muskellunge has been taken in the Wisconsin river and kindred waters by the wise old timers who knew where to go and when to do the going.

Based along the St. Croix river furnish splendid sport and seem to have a fighting ability that is all their own. This is true of other middle-western waters. Lazy fish don't make rivers their hangouts and a fisherman is in a fortunate enough to get a strike in a river. Lakes which are tributary to rivers furnish much toward keeping those rivers well stocked. The rivers have all of the varieties of fish which are found in any of the lakes which flow into them.

It is true that many fishy streams are difficult to negotiate with a row boat because of the sandbars and shallows which are numerous. Anyone who is at all careful will be able to get the hang of fishing from a canoe in short order, though, and will then find that river fishing is not a hardship or back breaker.

Although river casting may seem difficult at first because of overhanging alders and other obstructions it has its advantages in that there is generally less wind to disturb the cast. Taking into consideration all of the possibilities of river fishing it is something which should get a fair share of any active angler's time.

Grasshoppers Cause Considerable Damage In Royalty Region
Royalty—Seldom has this section been visited by such a big and prolonged pest of grasshoppers as this year.

At Greenwood farm, A. W. Ritchie says that he has 27 acres of new alfalfa seedling badly ruined by hoppers, and the same condition is prevalent on other farms.

It is not only the present army of hoppers that worries the farmers, but the fact that it is largely in clover and alfalfa fields, just beneath the soil at the crown of the plant that the female hopper deposits its eggs. Each capsule may contain from 30 to 35 eggs.

At the Waupaca county asylum farm in this township a tract of new land was cleared this season and put under cultivation with a variety of crops, which are now giving prospect of a big harvest.

Two local threshing machines are at work in this locality, threshing from the fields. The old time method of stacking grain or putting it in the barns before threshing is largely being discarded, and eliminated much extra handling.

F. N. Dean, his brothers Rex of Scandinavia and Ralph of Royalty and Clifford of New London, and sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Howard Favell of Waterford have recently returned from Clark and Carpenter S. D.

Approaching Marriage Announced at Church

The approaching marriage of Miss Lorraine Gomerling, route 2, Kaukauna, and Clarence Vandenberg, route 2, Kaukauna, was announced Sunday at St. Nicholas church. They will be entertained at a shower at Schommer's hall Sunday evening. It is expected approximately 200 guests will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schraml, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Simonson, Waupaca, and Miss Margaret Smith left for New York recently to attend the fair.

Farmers are cutting grain and threshing. Oats is averaging about 30 bushels per acre and barley about 35 bushels per acre.

Workers have started to build a large new barn on the George H. Plamann farm. This barn will replace one destroyed by fire sometime ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Schuh and family attended a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Herman Sunday at Shiocton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schraml, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Simonson, Waupaca, and Miss Margaret Smith left for New York recently to attend the fair.

Mrs. Rudd Smith Class A Winner In Golf Tourney

Prizes for Play in Four Flights are Awarded At Luncheon

New London—Mrs. Rudd Smith won the Class A flight in the home golf tournament of the New London Women's Golf club which was completed this week. Prizes for first place and consolation winners in each of the four flights were awarded at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elwood hotel yesterday afternoon, at which members of the Shawano club were guests.

Flights were assigned from Class A down to Class D according to the average score of the participants. At least eight women played in each flight.

The WORLD of STAMPS

Six colorful airmails commemorating two different events have just arrived from the Panama Canal Zone. The first event is the 25th anniversary of the opening of the canal and the other is the 10th anniversary of the beginning of air mail. All the stamps show mail planes soaring over various spots in the Canal Zone. Values are 5, 10, 15, 25, 30 cents and one dollar.

Heroes of Peace
A hoary tradition of the United States will soon be discarded. Postmaster General Farley has announced the post office will issue a series honoring Americans who were neither politicians nor generals. These new stamps—to appear next year—will pay homage to 32 men and three women who have served America in the arts and sciences.

At least a dozen other nations have issued stamps to honor their "heroes of peace," but the United States has preferred to remember only its political and military heroes, on its stamps. After months of sifting, authorities have chosen these for America's heroes of peace set:

Authors—Ralph Waldo Emerson, Samuel L. (Mark Twain) Clemens, Washington Irving, Louisa May Alcott and James Fenimore Cooper.
Poets—Henry W. Longfellow, James Whitcomb Riley, Walt Whitman, John Greenleaf Whittier and James Russell Lowell.

Artists—James McNeill Whistler, Daniel Chester French, Augustus Saint-Gaudens, Gilbert Stuart and Frederic Remington.
Educators—Horace Mann, Charles W. Eliot, Booker T. Washington, Frances E. Willard and Mark Hopkins. (As far as can be determined Mr. Washington will be the first Negro to appear on a U. S. stamp.)

Inventors—Alexander Graham Bell, Eli Whitney, Samuel Morse, Elias Howe and Cyrus McCormick.
Composers—John Philip Sousa, Edward A. McDowell, Stephen Collins Foster, Victor Herbert and Ethelbert Nevin.

Scientists—Luther Burbank, Dr. Crawford Long, Dr. Walter Reed, John James Audubon and Jane Addams.

Undoubtedly the list will be supplemented later. Many Americans have urged that such figures as Thomas Edison, Will Rogers, Wilbur Wright and Edgar Allan Poe be included. But the list, as far as it goes, should be well received by all collectors.

Another Belgian Artist
Soon after issuing its Rubens set the Belgian government unexpectedly released a single olive-green stamp in the 75 centimes plus 750 value to honor an earlier Flemish artist. Hans Memling (about 1430-1494).

Memling stuck to portraits and historical paintings and all his works have a deep religious flavor. An indication of his piety is seen in the portrait of him on the stamp showing him with hands clasped over a Bible.

be held at the high school grounds at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Points earned will go toward the city playground individual trophy cup.

TINY CHIHUAHUA BECOMES CHAMPION

Atlas's Divino Febo, a male Mexican Chihuahua owned by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Graff of Appleton, has earned his championship rating, the first Appleton-owned dog ever to earn the honor. Chihuahua First Appleton Dog To Earn Championship Rating

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Graff, 1523 N. Durkee street, have been notified by the American Kennel club that their Chihuahua dog, "Atlas's Divino Febo" has been recorded a champion. They will receive a championship certificate.

The first Appleton dog to be named a champion, the Chihuahua was born Feb. 20, 1938, at Temple, Texas. His sire was the champion, La Ora Jengibre, and the dam, Brush's Electra. The dog is fawn colored, with white markings and weighs less than three pounds.

Under the Graff ownership, it was shown at the Northbrook Kennel club show at Lake Forest last October, where it went best of breed and won three points. It won similar honors and four points at Benton Harbor and this spring took honors and additional points at six straight shows in Indiana and Illinois.

The announcement of the dog's championship rating will be made in the August issue of all magazines in the dog field.

The champion Chihuahua was exhibited in all the shows by Mrs. Bonnie Smith, Chicago, professional toy dog handler. She has promised officers of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club a large toy dog entry for the show at Fond du Lac Sept. 10.

Services to be Conducted Saturday at Waupaca For Slaying Victims

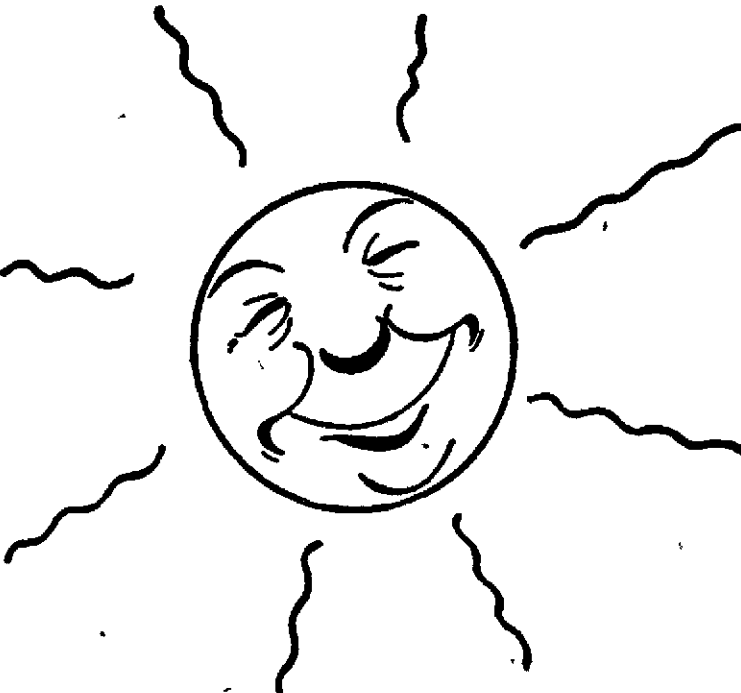

Waupaca — Private funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Klix, 34, and her 6-year-old son, Herbert, who were fatally shot by the husband and father, Walter Klix, at their home near Theresa Tuesday morning, will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Holly Funeral home by the Rev. Leo Anderson of Our Saviour's Lutheran church. Burial will be in Lakeside cemetery.

Margaret Larson Klix was born Sept. 9, 1905, in the city of Waupaca, the daughter of Walter and Mabel Larson. Her early life was spent in Waupaca where she went to school and after her marriage in 1929 to Walter Klix she continued to live in Waupaca until 1937 when she moved with her family to Theresa. Her son, Herbert, was born in Waupaca Sept. 14, 1933.

Survivors are the widow; her mother, Mrs. Mabel Crazen, Los Angeles, Calif.; her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Halvorsen, Waupaca; two sisters, Mrs. James Hanson, Chicago, and Mrs. Naomi Wendt, Waupaca. Mrs. Crazen will arrive from Los Angeles Friday.

City Engineer Writes Article for Magazine

An article entitled, "Intercepting Devices for Sewers," written by Alfred Wickes, city engineer, appeared in the July 20 issue of the Engineering News-Record, one of the foremost magazines for engineers. The article deals with the hydraulic theory of the design for intercepting devices and describes their construction and operation. The article is built around the Appleton intercepting system.

Pegler Attempts to Imagine How Far Picketing Could Go

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—I am thinking of a case in which it is supposed that a picket line has been placed around a little corner cigar store because the store sells a brand of cigars manufactured by a big company which is having union troubles. It is one of those intricate scraps over jurisdiction, and is largely political with both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. claiming the personnel and wanting the numerical strength and the dues. But the owner of this little cigar store knows nothing about the merits of the case and, anyway, it isn't his fight, because he is not a stockholder of the tobacco company but just a customer. His store is in Ohio, say, and the factory is way down south—somewhere. He doesn't even know just where—exactly.

The union which is striking the manufacturer sends word to this little economic royalist that if he doesn't refuse to sell this manufacturer's cigars it will picket him. Moreover, anybody belonging to any branch or offshoot of the big national organization, whether C. I. O. or A. F. of L., who crosses the picket line to buy anything at this store, even non-forbidden goods, may be deemed to have struck a blow at the labor movement and, on conviction in a trial by his own local, may be kicked out and barred from employment at his trade.

That makes the boycott pretty tight, but just to make sure, the union puts a picket line across the front of the store.

But it happens that the owner of the store is a regular member of the congregation of a certain church in the neighborhood and a personal friend of the pastor. And the pastor, according to his right as a citizen, and, perhaps for the moral effect that his protest will have, decides to wait right through the line and buy himself a package of gum.

At that, it becomes necessary to extend the picket line to cover the church, and the next Sunday when the people arrive for services they find pickets parading back and forth wearing signs declaring this church to be unfair to the amalgamated brotherhood of cigar, label stickers or some such way to like just make them pipe down. The church members who were knocked over in the scuffle want the cops to make a couple of pinches, offering to identify the pickets who slugged them, but the pickets gang around and a dozen or more of them are willing to swear to cross-charges that the church members started the punching. So nothing comes of that. Nobody wants to drag a church into a brawl, and the circumstances are such that the public might get an impression that the church was anti-labor.

It has now come to the point that members of the congregation have got to fire their pastor, which they naturally refuse to do, or keep out of their church, which would be a sin.

There Must Be a Point Where Patience Cracks

They claim that there is now an issue of religious freedom, but the unioners retort that if Christ were on earth today he would surely hold a card in the carpenters' union and disown a church which had committed itself against labor and, in spirit, through the unrepudiated act of its pastor in crossing the line to buy a package of gum, had cynically flouted the law of the land which upholds the cigar-label stickers' right of collective bargaining.

It gets all tangled up in arguments and ideology, and, meanwhile, some union men in the congregation have been tried, convicted and fired out of their unions and perpetually barred from employment for crossing a picket line to patronize a scab church.

I don't know what happens next, because picketing in the secondary, tertiary and further degrees up to infinity is still an experiment testing the patience of people who are picketed in disputes which are none of their business. Somewhere along the line there is a go-to-hell point.

2-Spade Bid Was Better Than Double

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: As a constant reader, I write to ask your analysis and opinion on the following hand, which created considerable discussion in a recent rubber bridge game:

"East, dealer.
"North-South vulnerable.
"Rubber bridge.

"The bidding:
East South West North
1 heart Double 2 hearts 2 no trump Pass 3 hearts Pass 4 hearts Double 4 spades Pass Pass

"Cue bid.
"The bidding is given exactly as made. You will note it died at four spades, although seven spades is cold.

"I was South and you can imagine my consternation when the dummy went down. On the first round of bidding, I apparently had the choice of the following bids: (a) two hearts, (b) one spade, (c) double, (d) two spades. As I have been taught that 5 to 10 honor tricks are necessary to bid the opponents' suit on the first round, I disposed of bid A. Since a one spade overcall would not show the strength of the South hand, bid B was put aside. I chose bid C, double, as the safest call on the first round, although I had slightly more strength than necessary for such a double.

"North's contention is that my bid, on the first round, should have been two spades; that, he says, would have 'gone places.' My stand is that, after West's bid of two hearts, North had plenty for a 'free bid' and could have bid two spades with impunity. Then we would have arrived at at least a small slam contract via the 4-5 no trump convention. Either that, or after three bids I actually made (one of which was a cue bid), North could have raised to five or six spades, in which case I could pass or go to seven spades, the proper contract. What do you think?"

As usual, there were "faults on both sides." South's first bid was not the best, in my opinion, but should not have interfered seriously with reaching the correct contract. Two spades would have represented South's holding more closely than the double. South made another error on the second round: His three heart bid at this stage was not technically a cue bid, despite the fact that he meant it as such. South should have bid three spades on the second round, reserving his heart cue bid for a later stage, when it could not be misunderstood. Thus, if South had bid three spades and North, underbidding greedily, raised only to four spades, South then could bid five hearts as a clear message and an unmistakable slam try.

My criticism of South's bidding, however, is taken as a whitewash of North's, I agree fully with South's contention that North should have made another bid over the four spades. The correct bidding throughout (accepting East's semi-psychic opening) was:

East South West North
1 heart 2 spades Pass 3 spades
Pass 4 hearts Pass 5 clubs
Pass 5 diamonds Pass 7 spades
Pass Pass

Although the Culbertson system does not officially authorize ace showing as cue bids, in this case North's suggested five club bid can hardly be ambiguous. He already has supported the higher ranking spade suit, hence, when South cue bids the opponents' suit with his four heart bid, North should logically show his first round club control. Then, when South makes another very strong bid with five diamonds, North can be almost positive that there is no loser in the combined hand.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

"No sun on my face," is VIRGINIA BRUCE's summer resolution. As you know, Virginia has the most famed complexion in Hollywood.

It is with fear and trembling that a beauty editor tells you of cosmetics which has stood up under her personal tests—for cosmetics which are most satisfactory to one woman may be not at all satisfactory to another. But here goes, and it is up to you to try them or not. I just thought you might like to know about them as they are unique.

Cosmetic Tooth Paste
A perfectly reliable tooth paste has made its debut which tints your gums a pretty natural pink as you brush your teeth! Its harmless coloring lasts from three to four hours and when you smile your teeth seem whiter and your gums look rosy and healthy. Of course you must brush your gums with the brush, as well as your teeth, and this gives a much needed massage two or three times a day. Naturally it costs more than the average tubes of paste.

Dry Shampoo
There definitely are times during the summer when a girl wants to use a waterless shampoo and it is good news to say there is one which seems to leave your hair clean and glossy with the minimum of effort. When poured on your hair and massaged with the fingers it forms a miraculous lather which you simply wipe off later with a fresh towel. Your hair quickly dries and you then give it a good brushing with a clean hairbrush. Girls with very dry hair, or hair which has had too many duckings in the lake or ocean will adore it.

Paint On Your Sun-Tan
As skin specialists and others are warning women not to take too much sun, the pleasure of changing your skins from one color to another is automatically denied us. Many women like to tan deeply just for the fun of being a startling brunette! Knowing this a chemist has mixed a perfectly harmless complexion tint in a deep butternut shade—or rather a glowing butternut shade as it has some pink in it. After cleansing your skin well you apply the tint with a moistened piece of cotton like Huguette's sister. The joy of this tint is that when you are bored with looking like an Indian you can quickly remove the color and make yourself up in the softest of pastels like a Dresden china doll! If this deeper shade is too deep you have three lighter tones from which to choose.

That Person Problem
It seems that one deodorant has made its bow this summer which comes through the tests with flying colors. Women who have strong sensitivity to similar products find that this does not irritate their skins the slightest. And no matter how frequently you apply it your clothes are not the least bit affected. Being slightly antiseptic there is a slight tingle when you first put it under your arms, or across your back but it does not burn you. This astringent deodorant is used by both men and women and from all reports does its duty nobly. Its sister cream, which is a nonperspirant vanishing cream is for those of you who need ordinary protection during the hot weather. Both of these products deserve to be better known than they are at the time of this reporting.

If you wish to know the names and prices of these products, and where you can purchase them, write Miss Lindsay care of this paper, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp.

Impossible to Make Over Character of Someone Else

BY DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am sorry for this girl and want to help her, but how? She is about 25, has led a fairly good life except for one stumble off of the strait and narrow path, and has been going with a fellow who is unemployed for more than a year. She says: "He is the man for me. I do not care to go with another. I will wait until he finds something to do." Incidentally, this girl has just lost her job, yet she must pay for her apartment and food and furnish her clothes, so what is she to do? My advice to her is to socialize more, meet more marriageable young men who may be broadminded enough to forgive a girl's past life so that she may avoid being called as she is now "Johnny's girl." Why should she wait until her beauty is gone and her youth vanished? While she is young and of a marriageable age is it not high time that she quit concentrating her attention on a man who has done nothing but loaf? I desire to help this girl save her soul. I also want her to have earthly happiness by having a fine, considerate husband, able to provide the necessities of life and give her a good home, and a few lovely children. How in your opinion, can this be done?

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: Making over a character is a miracle only God can perform. It is too big a task for a mere mortal, especially when the one you want to change does not wish to be changed.

That apparently is the case with this girl, who began her wild life when she was only a child and who would be bored to death at the mere thought of settling down and being domestic and living an ordered, conventional existence. Perhaps nature, who put quicksilver in their veins and gave them wandering feet, is more to be blamed than are these women who follow the primrose path, but, however it may be, you will seldom find them forsaking it for the hard and strait and narrow way.

Before you can put your wise and kindly plan for helping this girl into action, she will have to give up her worthless lover, yet she refuses to do that. She knows him for what he is, and that she can never depend upon him and never trust him; that he will never marry her, never support her, but such as he is she has set her heart upon him and she will be faithful to him unto the bitter end. And that, that is the eternal argument with that kind of infatuation.

Your advice to the girl to go about more and meet more people, and especially more marriageable men while she is still young and pretty and attractive, is good. But girls with shady pasts do not find many desirable doors open to them, so their social contacts are pretty well limited to the men they meet in business. And not many of these are broad minded enough to want to marry one who is known as "Johnny's girl."

Reforming one's mate is distinctly a feminine fable. Most men have sense enough not to attempt it. They pick out a wife who doesn't need to have her skirts washed.

So I fear that your plan of saving this girl by having her marry a fine, understanding, rich man who will be able to give her a good home and a position in society will not work, because in the first place, she will not give up her renegade lover and, in the second place, the kind of a man you would like to have her marry, wouldn't marry her.

My own practical suggestion for the solution of your problem is that you try to get her a job that will support her. That is about all that any one can do for her. In spite of all arguments, persuasions and entreaties she will go her own way.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a woman of 30, I am working twelve years and have supported my parents without any help from any of my six brothers, all of whom are married and have jobs.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

If you are interested in an excellent type of wedding gift, be sure to read my recommendations today. It also is a valuable endorsement for a man who is looking for a job, and has definite cosmetic value for it can erase worried wrinkles from your wife's face.

CASE 10-104: Mildred S., aged 22, is a new bride.

"I am deeply grateful to you, Dr. Crane," she recently sent me a note, "for my husband took out a $5,000 life insurance policy and presented it to me as a wedding gift.

"Naturally, I was very thrilled by this, as I suppose most new brides are at such thoughtfulness on the part of their husbands.

"But when I thanked him for being so considerate of my future welfare, he said I should really thank you, for he told me you gave him the idea in one of your Case Records.

"I certainly feel much happier and am sure every bride must also feel much safer to know that her husband has looked ahead and made some provision for herself and her possible babies."

DIAGNOSIS: Fear has a very unpleasant effect on love and marriage, for fear is introverted in its exact and produces inhibition and tension. The stutterm, for instance, is a good example of what social fear will do even to such a simple process as speaking.

If a bride and groom are to have their new marriage blossom out happily and completely, they must take precautions to guard their ecstasy and guarantee its continuation.

Many states are helping to do this by demanding physical examinations prior to issuance of a license, thus protecting the couple and their future children from possible infection by venereal diseases.

But women also crave a dominant male upon whom they can lean for financial support as well as devotion. Owing to the hazards of this high speed automobile age, there is always the possibility that a husband may suddenly be taken from his family.

A Benevolent Shadow Thoughtful men, therefore, make sure that their benevolent shadow will remain to safeguard and cherish their wives and children by means of a life insurance policy.

The Social Security Tax is an arbitrary insurance premium exacted by the state for the purpose of guaranteeing a man his pension at 65.

But a wife and children may be helpless and nearly hopeless within a few months of a man's decease unless that husband has proved his intelligent foresight by assuring them a monthly income via life insurance.

A woman whose future is financially guaranteed will be a much more delightful mate, too, for uncertainty about the future is one of the chief causes of fear regarding having children. And this fear is one of the basic reasons for marital incompatibility.

How To Get A Job When you write a letter of application for a job, moreover, your prospective employer is always interested to know about your health and financial habits.

It is a good idea, therefore, to cite your life insurance for this very item indicates that you have passed a physical examination and are probably a thrifty, intelligent man.

Employers are prone to look upon a man who doesn't carry life insurance as either physically unable to pass a medical examination successfully, or as being too ignorant or unimprovised to look ahead, and neither of these possibilities is a good advertisement for a person who is seeking a position.

Every intelligent groom should present his bride with an insurance policy which will give her a monthly income at least until their prospective children would be grown. This is sound psychology and sound economics.

Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write to the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a return stamp, and typing costs. Letters and readers' names are never published.

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

YESTERDAY: Tacks' Aunt Vee 'buried him with a hound of hell named Lily. Despite his protests, he is forced to take said hound for a walk in the park.

Chapter 19
SCENE OF DISORDER
It was approximately two weeks since Tacks had set eyes on Miss Packy North. Two miserable dragging weeks.

He was sunk. And, to add to his disgust it was highly probable that he alone was going to give the party on Saturday night. While he did not know the exact progress that his three cronies had made with their respective assignments, he gathered that they considered them in the bag. Jumbo Cutler and Van Harkness were a carefree twain of gentlemen these days. As for Mr. William Steele, he likewise seemed to have been released from the clutches of the law. Bill had approached Mr. Diffenderfer and suggested that legal proceedings were both tedious and expensive. Why not, Bill had proposed, settle this thing out of court?

It had taken a certain amount of persuasion. Mr. Diffenderfer had allowed that William was a menace who ought to be cast in durance and kept there. Neither could he be completely divorced from the notion that William represented the odious Bernie Feldman in the capacity of freak-stealer. But, first and last, Mr. Diffenderfer was a business man. In the end he capitulated to the lure of gold. Mr. Diffenderfer dropped the charges, and William walked out into the sunlight a free man.

While brooding over these moody details, Tacks Adams arrived at the stone steps which bunker the southern entrance to the Central Park Reservoir.

For the benefit of those who may be unfamiliar with the witching city of New York, the reservoir lies midway between the extreme ends of Central Park. A footpath girdles this city-locked lake. On Sundays and holidays, when the cliff-dwellers of Gotham are released from the chains of industry, this footpath teems with humanity who have come out to see if the sky is still there as it was last Sunday or holiday. But on weekdays one often finds the path either nearly or completely deserted.

Tacks found it nearly deserted today. He perceived one or two figures, some distance ahead, but paid scant attention to them. Then he units of potash. Since nitrogen is the material which produces leafy growth, use should be made of only such formulas as have a high nitrogen content. It would be foolish to use a formula at this time which contains four units of nitrogen to eight of phosphorus and four of potash. Roots are not needed; it is tops that we are after now and large quantities of nitrogen produce tops.

Sometime before dry August weather arrives it is well to apply about twenty pounds of the formula recommended to every one thousand square feet of lawn surface. Apply it before a rainfall or in the event there is no rain in sight, it can be watered in by use of generous quantities of water applied through a fine sprinkler on the suddenly realized that the dog Lily was still partnering him.

All the way to the reservoir Lily had walked with sedateness and gravity. Now, however, she was in a hurry designed for capering and, by gad, she meant to caper. But this caper was showing no signs of releasing her. To call attention to this distressing state of affairs, she braced herself and gave a mighty tug on the leash.

Mr. Adams eyed her with disfavor. Then he tumbled.

He bent and unsnapped the leash

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

AIR OF MARS

Before we take up the question of "people on Mars," I wish to make a few points which most astronomers agree about: Mars has rather thin air. The air does not hold nearly so much oxygen as the earth's air, but it does have a little oxygen.

An artist's idea of people on Mars. (After Leigh).

Mars may have highlands, but it has few, if any, mountains. In general the surface is far more even and low than the earth's. Mars may have a few shallow lakes, but it has no large, deep oceans. The surface is largely reddish or orange in color, which probably means vast stretches of desert. The greenish stretches which appear from time to time are very likely produced by plant life.

The question of canals on Mars has been much in dispute. Several famous and careful astronomers have made maps showing great systems of canals on Mars. They have said the lines were too straight to be made by rivers.

If there are canals on Mars, they must have been made by beings with brains to think, and with hands to hold things.

On the other hand, the climate of Mars may suppose that the climate of Mars is more and more dry, and that the people found there could not raise crops without canals. To meet this problem, they dug ditches of great size, some of them stretching from 1,000 to 2,500 miles!

The idea is that the canals are fed by melting snows of the polar caps. This water may flow through the ditches, and be used for crops in much the same way as men on earth irrigate crops.

On the other hand, many efforts have been made to prove that animal life could not exist on Mars. The chief claims are that the air of Mars does not have enough oxygen, and that the climate is too cold.

In regard to oxygen, it seems almost certain that people like ourselves could not live in the air around Mars. It is possible, however, that Mars has people who can breathe air with little oxygen in it. Tests seem to have proved that the climate of Mars is colder than the earth's. Yet the temperature in some parts probably rises to from 50 to 75 degrees above zero Fahrenheit during the daytime.

If the nights are far below zero, it would mean hardship for people on Mars, but we must remember that Eskimos live through long, cold winters. People on Mars may spend the nights in warm, snug, underground homes.

The question of whether there are people on Mars is still without a certain answer. It will be a great thing if we can find the truth during our lifetime.
